HST Cuts Estimate Of Budget Deficit By 4 Billion

Slashes Still Leave Totals Above 1952

Washington (AP)—President Truman yesterday estimated the government will spend less, collect less taxes and run up a smaller deficit in the current fiscal year than he thought in January.

One exception to this downward revision: individual income taxes will run higher than expected. Corporation taxes will fall far below early estimates.

The President cut his estimate of the budget deficit—the amount the government will go in debt in the year ending next June 30—from $14,400,000,000 to $10,300,000,000, a drop of $4,100,000,000.

But the cuts, announced in a detailed statement, still left all totals towering over 1952: federal expenses, intake and deficit.

This year's government spending now is figured at 79 billion dollars, compared with the 85½ billions Truman estimated in January.

Receipts now are estimated at $68,700,000,000 in place of the January estimate of 71 billions.

The new outgo figure, 6½ billions less than previously estimated, was still the highest budget ever except for the 1943-45 fiscal years of all-out war.

Truman reported direct taxes on corporations now are expected to yield $24,800,000,000—three billion dollars less than he expected in January.

He gave two reasons for this change: corporation profits were less than expected in 1951 and 1952, and tax laws passed in 1950 and 1951 haven't brought in revenue at the hoped-for rate.

Truman said direct taxes on individuals now are expected to bring in 33½ billion dollars, about a half-billion more than the January estimate.

In the revised budget, about 74 per cent of government spending is earmarked for direct or indirect defense purposes. This is only 2 per cent less than the January figures indicated.

The major changes in the President's new budget estimate were:

One—The drop of three billion dollars in the amount of corporation taxes the government thinks it will collect.

Two—A reduction of $6,300,000,000 in estimated military expenditures.

The new budget estimates indicated that in the current fiscal year budget expenditures will be nearly 13 billion dollars more than in the preceding 12-month period.

The government will collect over 6½ billion dollars more taxes, and the deficit will be 6½ billions bigger than it was the year before.

Farmer Defies Road Builders

Reading (AP)—Charles A. Kline, Berks County farmer, notified the state yesterday any attempt to put a road through his property would be met by a rifle.

Kline, 60, told the State Highway Department he planned to guard his 35-acre tract near Morgantown with a rifle. In a letter to R. E. Boyer, district highway engineer, Kline rejected an offer for his property and said he will not allow the road until satisfactory damages are allowed.

Paul Hoffman, Adviser To Ike, Defends Gen. Marshall Against McCarthy's Attack

Washington (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman, a top Eisenhower-for-president adviser, assailed yesterday as "fantastically false" the accusations Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has hurled at Gen. George C. Marshall.

McCarthy on June 14, 1951, devoted a 60,000-word Senate speech linking Marshall—wartime chief of staff and postwar secretary of state—with what McCarthy termed "a conspiracy of infamy" to make this country the prey of world Communism.

"I consider the charge fantastically false," Hoffman said yesterday in sworn testimony for possible use in the trial of a two million dollar libel-slander suit McCarthy has filed against Sen. Benton (D-Conn.).

McCarthy in the suit accuses Benton of defaming him with unfounded charges of fraud, perjury and calculated deceit. Benton among other things has charged publicly that McCarthy's speech about Marshall was "a towering lie."

Benton has said his main defense will be an effort to prove his charges are true. His lawyers called Hoffman to back this move and to preserve Hoffman's testimony in the form of a deposition for use in the trial if Hoffman is not available to testify in person.

Hoffman was the first head of

Many Federal Employees May Cast Votes For Eisenhower, Civil Service Head Thinks

A prediction that 2½ million federal employees will "vote as they please"—and may tend to vote for Eisenhower against Stevenson in November—came yesterday from Chairman Robert Ramspeck of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

Countering statements that federal jobholders are a package vote for the Democrats, Ramspeck told newsmen in Washington that government employees "can't be registered."

In Mississippi, Democrats for Eisenhower pledged a solid slate of independent electors to the Republican presidential nominee and promised a hustling bid to deliver the state to Eisenhower on Nov. 4.

Former LL Gov. Sam Lumpkin told the small group: "American democracy is doomed forever if Gen. Eisenhower is not elected president."

Eisenhower Democrats charged state Democratic leaders used "steamroller tactics" Monday when the state convention pledged support for the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

In New York, Jesse Jones of Houston, Tex., a pioneer of the Roosevelt New Deal regime, told newsmen he thinks the coming election is a toss-up. Jones said there should be a change in the national administration if the two-party system is to survive.

In a letter from London, England, Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) who frequently strays from the GOP fold to vote with the Democrats, announced that as a "liberal Republican" he will campaign for Eisenhower.

In Washington, the pro-New Deal Americans for Democratic Action said Gen. Eisenhower will have to carry along "smearers and isolationists" on the Republican ticket in his bid for the White House.

The Republican National Committee took sharp issue with the CIO Committee to Abolish Discrimination, which endorsed Stevenson and Sparkman last Sunday.

GOP headquarters said Stevenson's civil rights record is questionable. It called Sparkman "a race baiter."

Prospects For Ike-Steve Clash Fade

By The Associated Press

Prospects of an oratorical showdown between Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower faded yesterday after a row developed over the question of both speaking on the same day at Minnesota's national plowing contest.

Contest officials ruled that Stevenson could speak on Sept. 5 but not Sept. 6, the day Eisenhower speaks to a crowd expected to reach 100,000.

"If Eisenhower makes a major speech at noon and Stevenson a major speech at 3 p. m., the people will just eat a hot dog, relax and wait for Stevenson. Nobody would get any plowing done," officials explained.

Stevenson had intended to speak a few hours after Eisenhower—a situation that would have allowed him to answer the questions put by point.

With this ruled out, Stevenson called off his speech, saying he couldn't appear Sept. 5 because of a previous commitment. And on that note, the Democratic presidential nominee took off for a vacation in the North Woods of Wisconsin.

Later in the day, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) called on Minnesota officials to reverse themselves and "re-invite" Stevenson to speak on the same day with Eisenhower.

The contest's Board of Directors was to meet later with the possibility a new decision might be forthcoming in the light of Humphrey's recommendation.

In Denver, Eisenhower put the finishing touches on a speech he will deliver today during a conference with Western Republican governors at Boise, Idaho.

The general told a group of women GOP leaders his crusade to win the presidency is aimed at assuring peace and progress for America and to prevent the "creeping paralysis of any 'ism' that is not American."

Eisenhower made a slip of the tongue when he told the ladies he was interested in the women's vote because "there are more women in America than there are Americans—I mean men."

He went on to say that women could be of great help because he believes "their hearts and minds turn in the direction of peace, fairness and justice in the world."

Losers Challenge 'Miss Europe' To Don Swim Suit

Naples, Italy (AP)—A shy, covered-up Turkish girl won the title "Miss Europe" last night and was immediately challenged by Miss France and Miss Germany to strip down and prove her right to the crown.

Miss Turkey—dark-haired Gunzell Basar—wouldn't wear the traditional bikini bathing suit for the finals.

Nicolet Druin of France, who came in second, was indignant at this modesty.

"Miss Germany (Vera Marks) and I both challenge Miss Turkey to reappear in a bikini before a jury," she said. "She has a mark on her face and her thighs are not well-modeled."

"Tomorrow's newspaper photos will show who was really best."

Shipyard Sale To Be Probed

Washington (AP)—The ten-cents-on-the-dollar sale of a war surplus shipyard in Jacksonville, Fla., will be investigated by a federal grand jury here beginning Sept. 3, Atty. Gen. McGranery announced yesterday.

Louis E. Wolfson, Florida financier who controls the firm that made the purchase, came back promptly with word that he will be glad to explain again about the six-year-old deal but "as a conscientious businessman I'm getting tired of these shenanigans played by the government."

Involved in the case is the St. John's River Shipyard, which cost the government 19½ million dollars to build and was sold as surplus at public auction for $1,928,500. The buyer was Tampa Shipbuilding Corp., owned by Wolfson.

THIS IS A PICTURE of a father and son making sure they can vote in November. W. C. Strunk (left) and son Eugene were among the 12 Monroe residents who showed up to be registered by special clerk Dorothy Sandt (left) and Grace Scheller, sitting at the Middle Stroud election house in Analomink last night. Another nine West End residents registered with special clerks Harry Taylor and Virginia Doll at the election house in Kunkletown, making a total of 21.

Truce Parleys Hit New Low; Allied Negotiators Not Upset

Manassas (AP)—The dogdoled Korean truce parleys hit a new low today with their fourth straight week-long recess, but the United Nations Command delegates apparently were not upset.

After a hissing, hour-long session at Panmunjom yesterday, Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison—the senior Allied delegate—told correspondents "an armistice is possible."

"The Communists do want an armistice," he added. "It's a matter of how much they are willing to pay for it."

The sole issue blocking a truce—exchange of prisoners—remained unchanged. The Reds demand the return of 116,000 prisoners, including 20,000 Chinese. The Allies, after patient and exhausting screening, say 83,000 want to return to Red rule and the others refuse.

Harrison said the nub of the issue apparently was the Communists' reluctance to accept the fact that some 13,600 of the Chinese said they would rather die than be sent home.

In the faded conference tent he told Gen. Nam Il, the chief Communist negotiator:

"Just why are you determined to get your hands on men who utterly renounced you is not clear. Possibly you desire to punish them."

Nam Il became visibly angered as Harrison went on:

"You call the Chinese soldiers volunteers, but when it comes to volunteering not to go home you won't recognize that."

Nam Il countered: "The Korean people and the Chinese people and the peace-loving peoples of the world have in their anti-aggressive struggle forged and consolidated their indelible friendship. Your attempt to sow discord between us is doomed to failure."

Harrison said the Communist effort to get back all the Chinese prisoners indicated the Reds were quite satisfied to let North Korea "suffer irreparable damage."

"For you not to agree to an armistice is the type of cruelty to these North Koreans which the free world has come to recognize as an inevitable characteristic of Communist dictators," he told Nam Il.

Philadelphian said his check of the bank, which is located in Prospect Park, a quiet suburban community of 6,000 about 10 miles from Philadelphia, said that Mrs. Orr had been "making false entries and juggling one account against another."

There was no testimony concerning what became of the money. Mrs. Orr allowed her attorney to do all the talking at the hearing and remained quietly alongside her husband. The couple, who have no children, have a modest home.

Mrs. Orr joined the bank staff six months after the institution opened its doors in 1928. She advanced from general clerical duties to the position of assistant cashier, a post she assumed just last year.

Renova (AP)—Mrs. Minnie Calhoun, 85, who watched the fabulous Leidy gas boom start in her front yard, died Monday in the little farmhouse she refused to leave after she became wealthy.

The gray-haired farm wife was the mother of Dorcie Calhoun, who brought in Leidy No. 1 well in January, 1950, a stone's throw from the farmhouse. Mrs. Calhoun watched most of the operations from a rocking chair on her front porch.

Although she received large royalties from the natural gas strike, Mrs. Calhoun never changed her way of life. She continued living quietly on the farm, avoiding reporters and keeping her finances to herself.

Swedes Object To Margaret's Armed Guards

Stockholm (AP)—The Swedish Foreign Office began an investigation yesterday of Margaret Truman's right to have three armed American bodyguards in Sweden.

The three have been accused in the press here of roughing up Swedish citizens, and their presence has caused considerable indignation among the Swedes.

The President's daughter has been in Sweden since Sunday on a European tour.

Sweden's largest newspaper, Aftonbladet, commented sarcastically last night, "Miss Truman is not in danger of her life in Stockholm... we understand that she is not going to sing here."

Allied Troops Turn Back Reds

Seoul (AP)—Allied troops early today repulsed a five-minute Communist assault against bloody Bunker Hill on the Western Korean front.

The Reds prepared for the assault with an artillery and mortar barrage against Allied troops dug in along the ridge-top. U.S. Marines won the hill last week after a savage fight.

The battle front was quiet Tuesday in the wake of a typhoon which blew across the peninsula and into the Sea of Japan.

Unaffected By Gas Boom, Mrs. Calhoun Dies At 85

Renova (AP)—Mrs. Minnie Calhoun, 85, who watched the fabulous Leidy gas boom start in her front yard, died Monday in the little farmhouse she refused to leave after she became wealthy.

The gray-haired farm wife was the mother of Dorcie Calhoun, who brought in Leidy No. 1 well in January, 1950, a stone's throw from the farmhouse. Mrs. Calhoun watched most of the operations from a rocking chair on her front porch.

Although she received large royalties from the natural gas strike, Mrs. Calhoun never changed her way of life. She continued living quietly on the farm, avoiding reporters and keeping her finances to herself.

San Dorcie, now 51, brought in the first well one dreary January morning on a plot about 300 yards from the house. It came in at 5,000 feet, producing 30 million cubic feet a day and started a land rush never before equaled in this section. Its production now has diminished greatly.

Dorcie said he chose the spot because a truck loaded with his second-hand rigging bogged down on a muddy road there.

Many years before Mrs. Calhoun had cooked with gas leakage discovered on the farm by her late husband, Albert Calhoun. He died several years ago before the gas came in.

This led to Dorcie's hunch to drill on the land.

Dorcie, like his mother, has refused to talk about how much money the Calhoun family has received from the strike. However, the $100 shares he sold three years ago have returned a total of $1,350 a share.

Tear Gas Disperses Red Youths

Tehran, Iran (AP)—Communist youths stoned an American Army sergeant yesterday and last night battled army troops and police with knives and rocks in the heart of Tehran before being dispersed with tear gas.

Nearby, the headquarters of the Communist partisan peace organization were set ablaze and the flames lit up the sky over the capital. At the same time police said they had been told the building housing a Communist newspaper was on fire. The flames were quickly brought under control.

Th cause of the fires was not immediately determined, but there has been a series of nightly clashes between the Reds and members of Premier Mohammed Mossadeq's Nationalist party.

Eyewitnesses blamed members of the Nazi-style Sunka party for setting the fire at the peace partisan building. They said members of that organization prevented firemen from battling the blaze for 10 minutes before they were driven away by tear gas.

Police officials said eight persons, including two policemen and a soldier, were seriously injured in the disturbances and about 40 arrested.

Sgt. James Hagan of Atlanta, Ga., was stoned in his jeep on one of the capital's busiest corners yesterday morning. He was grazed by one stone, but was not injured.

He and his Iranian soldier-driver sped away while police, swinging clubs, waded into the mob of 100 who had been yelling "Emigrate, go home"—literally, Americans get lost.

Troops were called out last night for the first time since martial law was lifted last week. Two truckloads were stationed near the entrance to the British Embassy and others were posted at strategic locations, as both Nationalists and Communists roamed the streets armed with sticks.

Police said the Communists streamed out of a flower shop which apparently was their headquarters and attacked police and soldiers.

As they advanced to battle, the Reds shouted anti-Shah and anti-government slogans.

After the fires broke out, one witness reported seeing members of the extreme nationalist Pan-Iran party, and the fanatic pro-Mossadeq religious organization moving toward the blazing Communist peace headquarters carrying sticks.

Lack Of Interest Marks Voting In New York State

Albany, N.Y. (AP)—A skinny turnout of voters decided eight congressional and 31 legislative contests yesterday without stirring much excitement in New York's fall primary election.

Sunny skies provided perfect voting weather, but vacations and the voters' usual lack of interest in primaries kept the balloting light.

Winners of most of the contests will not be known until early today.

Lewis To Join Hard Coal Talks

New York (AP)—Contract talks for 75,000 hard coal miners get down to cases today with the industry already having made plain that it will take a dim view of any demand for a wage boost.

Union President John L. Lewis sent word from Washington that he would soon join United Mine Workers' lieutenants who opened the talks yesterday.

In keeping with the tradition of their negotiations, the United Mine Workers haven't yet said what they want from northern hard coal operators.

Precautionary Step Taken; Pool Closed

Stroudsburg swimming pool was closed yesterday "as a precautionary measure." The action was ordered by the borough council. Remainder of the playground will remain open.

The step was taken after the playground committee of council consulted competent medical authorities, including Dr. R. Frederick Jones, State medical director for Monroe County.

Reports from the Pennsylvania Department of Health at Harrisburg yesterday listed four polio cases reported from Monroe County up to noon yesterday.

Stroudsburg Council some weeks ago hired Arthur Slee, public health expert, to keep a close check on the quality of the water entering the playground pool and the water in the pool.

Mr. Slee's reports showed the water has been constantly above the public health standards of Pennsylvania.

Regardless of this very favorable situation, council took the precaution of closing the pool for the remainder of the season after consultation with medical authorities.

The remainder of the playground and all its facilities will remain open for youngsters and the general public.

Driver Jailed For Speeding

Frank Galandro, 32, Astoria, L. I., was released from the county jail yesterday at noon after serving a one-day sentence for speeding. He was arrested by Mount Pocono State police Monday and sentenced by Justice of the Peace Emma Merwin, Mount Pocono.

POOLS MAY CLOSE FOR THIS or that reason, but youngsters and some not so young, will swim as long as hot summer days last and there's a handy creek. With both borough playground pools closed the swim addicts revert to Stokes Mill and other nearby waterholes for some refreshing capers. (Daily Record photo)

Recent Rains Big Boon To State Farmers

Harrisburg (AP)—Rain averaging almost twice normal brought relief to much of Pennsylvania's parched farmlands the past week. The weekly federal-state crop-weather survey reported that all but a few farming localities were well supplied with moisture. However, there are a few areas still "somewhat" dry.

Most of the rain fell where most needed, north and west of the mountains. Rain across the state averaged 1.65 inches. Normal for the week is .90. The temperature averaged two degrees above the 70 degree normal.

The report continued: "Growing conditions generally are favorable and prospects for late maturing crops have improved, the survey disclosed. Plowing for fall grains, delayed by dry ground, is progressing rapidly.

Salt is used in the manufacture of steel and various chemicals.

Girls Making Good Fight Against Polio

Young Lonnie and Carol Fox remained at their Saylorsburg home yesterday with no change for the worse in their fight against polio which struck them last weekend.

They are being nursed by their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Francis Fox and Mrs. Pennie Parrell. The home is under quarantine.

Dr. Frank Halstead, Stroudsburg, who is treating the two girls, said last night that the temperatures of both children were down to about normal and that the girls were making "a good fight."

Each day that passes without a change for the worse increases the girls' chances of emerging without damaging paralysis, he said.

There are bands on most fish scales which are much like tree rings, dark bands indicating winters, when food is short.

Bee Lining

There are men who still practice the ancient craft of bee lining in late summer. It is not a popular pastime; only a few know the pleasure of lining bees to their colony in a tree. Honeybees have been on this planet for thousands of years, though the life of a worker bee in summer is only a few weeks. Late hatched broods live over winter in a tight cluster with the queen in the center.

One can make a bee lining box with two compartments or he can operate with a single section. The first essential is to brush a bee from a flower into the box where it finds honey or boiled sugar and water. Some hunters add a whiff of anise oil. When a bee discovers free food it usually brings other workers from the colony. Patience is needed at first; the box stays on a stick or rock until the bees are coming regularly. Some experts paint a dab of color on a bee with a camel's hair brush so they can tell if the same bee returns.

After the bees are coming regularly, the box is closed on a group and one walks as far as he considers wise in the direction the bees have been flying. This is the process repeated and repeated until, if fortune be with one, he locates the knothole in a tree which indicates the home of the colony. Sometimes one can locate a tree in an afternoon; sometimes it takes two or three days. But a beelineer considers this a part of the sport.

Once the tree is located, the hard work begins. The tree has to be cut; someone has to rush in with smudging moss to smoke the colony into quietness. A veil and gloves are comforting equipment for one who has learned his lesson the hard way. Sometimes the honey harvest is disappointing; sometimes one gets two or three gallons. We are told the Pilgrims depended on wild honey for their sweetening; probably 20,000 years ago ancient man was taking honey from insects that gathered nectar. Now it is bee lining time again and on quiet August afternoons there are those who enjoy tracing the bees across the fields and into the woods.

What Nature Hath Wrought

Nature's worst disaster, a drought, is searing one of America's most abundant agricultural areas.

The great Southland, from Kentucky and North Carolina to Texas, is blistered for lack of rainfall.

Crops of corn, tobacco, hay and tomatoes literally are burning up.

Officials in the stricken states say it is the worst drought in 20 years, and may turn out to be the worst in the South's history.

It is a disaster for which there is no man-made relief. Relief can come only from the heavens.

The government is going to the rescue with the only facilities at its disposal—emergency loans to tide over the farmer victims until they can submit another crop to the vicissitudes of nature.

At least these are loans which every taxpayer will liberally endorse.

The first newspaper advertising in the American colonies appeared in the Boston News-Letter in 1704.

About 3,500 hunters are accidentally shot by their companions each year in the United States.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization is having a field day inflicting the American educational system when it studied the series of pamphlets entitled "Towards World Understanding."

The pamphlets are the outpouring of a series of UNESCO global conferences, none of which had anything to do with the American school system. They were distributed widely among schools in the nation, however, but it was not until 1951 that the counter-attack against them started. UNESCO's first reaction was that the pamphlets are not the responsibility of UNESCO and that they did not necessarily reflect the views of UNESCO.

The pamphlets were printed by the International Documents Service, Columbia University Press, New York City. At one point UNESCO spokesmen claimed that this was just another agency that could print anything about UNESCO it wanted to print.

The U. S. national commission for UNESCO publishes an information bulletin. On April 11, 1952 it stated, on the bottom of page one:

"The International Documents Service, Columbia University Press, New York City, is the OFFICIAL SALES agency of all such material within the U. S."

The April issue of the bulletin was devoted to defending the pamphlets, "Towards World Understanding."

One of the charges made against the pamphlets is that UNESCO "advances the doctrine that the prime function of public education in the United States must be that of capturing the minds of our children, at the earliest possible age, for the cause of political world government."

UNESCO terms this criticism "swiftness distortion" and states that the International Documents Service "discusses neither education in the United States nor world government. What is advocated is international cooperation, international understanding and loyalty to mankind as a whole."

UNESCO pamphlet No. 4, entitled "The United Nations and World Citizenship," states:

"In our time, we need to dedicate education to the service of the human community as a whole. The ideal to be pursued is that, whether in the home, the social environment or the school, our children should be educated to live with others and to prepare themselves for citizenship in a WORLD SOCIETY."

Even without UNESCO, the American educational system long ago realized the necessity of teaching American children that people in other lands are also people. But we were also taught to let others govern themselves as they see fit. UNESCO thinks differently, and is attempting to force its views on our schools, despite their denials. Here is another quote from pamphlet No. 4:

"So far as the school's part in this process is concerned, we summarize its object as being to secure in the child a sense of community, first in the class, then in the successively larger groups comprised by the school, the neighborhood, and the nation, in a progression of loyalties which will enable him to later reach the climax of membership in the WORLD COMMUNITY."

Article 1, Section 3 of the UNESCO Constitution states: "With a view of preserving the independence, integrity and fruitful diversity of the culture and educational systems of the state members of this organization, the organization is prohibited from intervening in matters which are essentially within their domestic jurisdiction."

How and what we teach in American schools is certainly within the "domestic jurisdiction" of the United States. Yet, here is an official statement of UNESCO, issued on Nov. 14, 1945:

"It is well known that UNESCO seeks to impress on youth the importance of international understanding and cooperation as a path to peace. We resent the attacks on our educators who teach about UNESCO and the United Nations. The attacks distort the purpose of UNESCO and sometimes they are directed toward control of courses of study and of the contents of textbooks, the end in view being to diminish opportunities to learn the true aims of UNESCO and the United Nations."

Pamphlets one to 10 of the series "Towards World Understanding" are in toto an attempt to influence, guide and propagandize American teachers on what should be taught in schools. Nobody resents UNESCO telling its own story to American pupils. We all ought to resent how-ever, UNESCO telling American teachers what to teach to our sons and daughters. We have the greatest school system in the world. We had it for decades before UNESCO was born. Let's keep it that way.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

Our Mineral Reserves
For years, I have been calling attention to the over-rapid consumption of our mineral reserves. This is a matter of primary importance because our particular civilization, on its material side, is based on iron and steel, petroleum and other metals and minerals. When we are forced to import these essential commodities in proportions that are excessive, we shall have to export too large a share of our foodstuffs and manufactured goods, and we shall be required to do that at prices low enough to compete in markets unwilling to take them except as gifts.

The loss of our minerals can make us a dependent nation. It is always forgotten that empires have risen and fallen and that raw materials and the food supplies were factors not to be ignored.

For many years, this nation has been dumping metals, minerals, food-stuffs and manufactured goods for free into the so-called weak and backward nations under all sorts of aid plans. While it is humane and charitable to assist those who are willing to accept our assistance, it is nonetheless dangerous to our future as a nation, for the destiny of our country and to the welfare of our grandchildren and great grandchildren to waste our irreplaceable wealth of metals and minerals.

Now along comes the President's Materials Policy Commission with a report which says (in digest):

"A complete census of the minerals industry should be taken by the Bureau of the Census every five years; that Governmental programs of fact-gathering and economic analysis concerning minerals, particularly in the Department of the Interior, should be improved to make good present serious lacks in data, and that complementary programs of fact-gathering and analysis by industry groups be undertaken or strengthened."

"The United States Geological Survey should speed up the geological mapping of the United States and Alaska, and take leadership in establishing a national system of assembling geologic data from drill cores and other sources."

The report clearly indicates in tone and data that the investigators found conditions frighteningly unsatisfactory.

According to this commission, this country is rapidly moving into the position of a raw-materials deficit nation and if present consumption continues, we shall reach that state in 1975 which is not too far away. Should a war occur during the next 23 years, present estimates would be outmoded because the velocity of consumption would naturally increase. Our success in the past two wars has been entirely due to our productivity and mobility. The factories did it.

The present policy of our government of giving away approximately $5,000,000,000 a year in various forms of aid is responsible, in part, for the over-rapid consumption of our raw materials. More devastating have been two wars during which we contributed principally supplies to our allies and our own forces.

For purposes of this discussion, it is of no value to argue whether our policies were or are right or wrong; the significant fact is that we are going broke in our reserves of metals and minerals which cannot be replaced. It is possible to plant and grow wheat and cotton; it is possible to plant trees and in time to have supplies of wood. It is not possible to replace iron ore or copper or zinc or lead. Once taken out of the ground, they are gone forever.

Already our steel companies are making arrangements to import iron ore from Labrador, Venezuela, Chile, Brazil and other places to make up for the rapidly depleting Mesabi range. Already copper is coming in from Chile and South Africa. Already the production of petroleum in this country requires high costs and deep drilling.

There is nothing to do with whether private enterprise or government operations are involved. When the stuff is gone, nobody can put it back. When it has to be bought outside this country, the seller will control the price. The best example of that is that the United States, having become dependent upon Canada for newsprint, Canada fixes an unconscionable price, not only to charge us for newsprint but to improve the value of her currency. The industry in Canada has been carolized and the Canadian Government decides what Americans must pay for newsprint.

This is not an issue that can be dodged by honest and responsible men. It ought to be discussed seriously in the campaign.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Not far from the University of Georgia campus stands the only tree in the world that owns itself. Early in the eighteenth century, one Col. William Jackson, who owned the land on which this tree stands, stipulated in his will, "For and in consideration of the great love I bear this tree and the desire I have for its protection for all time, I convey to it entire possession of itself and all land within eight feet thereof on all sides." The original tree succumbed to old age and a heavy storm years ago, but in its place thrives one of its offspring.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York—Miss Mindy Carson, just turned 25, proprietor of a 9-month-old child and owner of the wettest voice in history (Time said it was "clear as spring water" and Vogue compared it with a "mountain stream, only warmer"), brushed her short blond hair back and leaned against the big leather sofa in her husband's office. Miss Carson was sad.

"Miss Carson was sad because she was thinking about the Bronx which may be a joke to moviegoers and readers of cartoon magazines, but which for a long, long time was home to her. She grew up in the Westchester section of the strange and wonderful borough; she was graduated from James Monroe high school, and for a brief time all the young men she knew who dated her were Bronx boys whose hearts were with the Yankees or Giants and whose worlds began with the Grand Concourse and ended with Van Cortlandt park.

Miss Carson was not melancholy because of nostalgia. She was melancholy because she suddenly was facing a grim realism "I don't care if I ever see the Bronx again in my life," she told me—and it was listening to her say this thing that made her sad. It wasn't said darkly or bitterly. It was said wearily, almost with disillusion. She was saying this flat and miserable sentence about a place where once she was a happy girl.

The Bronx is a Borough full of communities; it is honeycombed with little neighborhoods and sometimes a man can live and die in a five-block area. As such, it is prey to the evil that affects so many small communities—gossip. Maybe that's a hard word. It might be described better as talking about your neighbor's business.

"The first thing that got me down about the old neighborhood," Mindy said, "was when I branched out into singing and began to make a little name for myself out of town. I'd be singing in top spots around the country. The Roosevelt in New Orleans, the Charles in Baltimore, and so on—and then I'd come home between engagements . . . and everyone would ask my mother why I wasn't making a success."

"They never heard of the Roosevelt in New Orleans. To them I was a bust, and they talked about it not only among themselves but to my mother. I guess it was annoying more than anything else."

Mindy finally rang the bell for keeps in the early summer of 1949 at the Copacabana, when she made a tremendous success and became the youngest performer ever to be given star billing at that lavish saloon. Records, radio, television, screen tests—all of these came tumbling on top of one another, until Mindy became one of the top singers in America.

"It came tremendously quickly," she said, "and during the first year or two of it, my parents continued living in the old Bronx neighborhood, which was beginning to look pretty rundown. You know what the neighbors began to say then? Look at that Mindy Carson; making all that money and she doesn't even buy her poor old mother a decent house to live in."

Neighborhood gossip has broken many a good person on its rack and has given a lot of straightforward people like Mindy Carson a sick feeling inside. However, she was decisive and smart about it.

Mindy wasn't going to listen to it any more. She had met and married Eddie Joy, music publisher and personal manager, and they had an apartment down in Manhattan. Now, to complete the exodus of the Carsons, she

TINY ACORNS, MIGHTY OAKS

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

This really has nothing to do with the case. It is merely an observation which came to me as I looked at the morning paper lying with page five open on my desk.

There is a very sad picture on that page, with the caption "The Cat Turned Out To Be A Porcupine."

It is a picture of Rex, a Boston Terrier puppy, who went exploring into the woods near Gardner, Mass.

He discovered a cat. He snapped at it.

But the cat turned out to be a porcupine.

The picture was in two parts. The first part showed Rex with somewhere around 2000 quills in his schnozzle.

Part two showed him after a veterinary had removed the quills. Rex, who had to be given an anesthetic, looked very foolish in Part Two of the picture.

He looked humiliated, miserable and frustrated.

Moral to both dogs and humans: Don't stick your nose into things that are none of your business. You might get stung.

Now to my column.

Egypt, which recently fired its King Farouk the Fat, has done installed her mother in a home on Long Island.

Lord knows what the neighbors are saying about the Carsons and Mindy now. Probably "Himm—think they're not good enough for us, don't they?" Gossip always finds something to latch on to.

Mindy had had another war to win, meanwhile; from the beginning she has had to overcome all the talk about being a twin for Ingrid Bergman.

A lot of girls would simply be flattered. To Mindy it has been a handicap, because she's a performer and she must get people to recognize her as herself and not another Ingrid Bergman, to be successful. "It seems to be a lot better," she told me hopefully. "I think I'm getting away from it."

Getting away from things seems to have been Mindy's cross to bear, these last couple of years. She's getting good at it—but she can't help looking back at one of the things, the Bronx and feeling a little sad about it all.

Millions of meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every day but most of them are no longer than a grain of sand.

Hollywood—"If you ain't got a good role," Arthur Hunnicutt says of acting, "you ain't worth a dang. It's just like plumbin'; you gotta do the best you can."

Arthur is a long, lean Arkansian who "grewed up" behind a mule-drawn cultivator on his father's cotton farm at Gravelly.

If you haven't been aware of Arthur Hunnicutt in his supporting roles in "Distant Drums," "Broken Arrow," "Red Badge of Courage," and other films, you probably will be. He steals Kirk Douglas' latest release, "The Big Sky," as leader of a river expedition of fur-traders. RKO has given him a term contract and put him in two more films. He looks headed at last for big-time character roles.

The blue-eyed, long-nosed actor keeps his bushy, golden-brown beard between assignments. "Then if they want it, I done got it."

Hunnicutt, 41, had an obscure start in show business. "Me an' my brother Bill went to perform at Baptist church pie suppers," Arthur reminisces. "He was a good fiddle player, and I sang folk songs and spirituals."

Finally he joined a traveling medicine showman, returning to Gravelly for cotton and corn planting and harvest. He attended a dramatic school in Cleveland to improve his speech and later joined an Eastern summer theater—"plumbin' carpenterin' an' playin' bits. I found out I could do pretty good. So I went to New York. But it was two years before I could get a job actin'."

Arthur was working in the laundry of the Algonquin Hotel when he landed a role in "Love's Old Sweet Song." He and the play's star, the late Walter Hus-

Cost Of New Highway Building Estimated At Half Million

Work Expected
To Be Done
May 1, 1953

Delayed almost a year by the steel strike and a water condition, contractors working on construction of a maintenance building for the State Highway Department have indicated the building on Route 611 north of Stroudsburg will be finished by May 1, 1953. Cost of the entire project is estimated at approximately $500,000.

Work on the project started April, 1951 but last winter lack of priority for steel augmented by the subsequent steel strike, cramped further erection plans. And an unexpected water problem arose about the same time, forcing engineers to redesign the drainage system which also backdated the completion schedule, originally set for May 1, 1952.

Collins and Maxwell, Easton contractors, were given the award to construct the concrete block building for their bid of $297,202. An official said yesterday that amount may slightly increase because of additional changes since the contract was consummated.

Plans call for a buff brick veneered structure 194 feet wide. An office located in the front will be 30 x 56 feet and the west side of the building will measure 130 feet. On the east section a wing will be added and utilized as a paint, blacksmith and carpenter shop. This will be 32 x 69 feet.

Sherry Plumbing Co., of Hazleton, has the contract for plumbing and heating and J. D. Van Lier, of Co. of Stroudsburg, will complete the electrical work.

Once the building is complete the force of 150 employees of the highway department in Monroe County will shift operations from their present location at 3 Day St., East Stroudsburg, to the new building.

Lewis Eagle, 62, Dies In Williamsport

Lewis J. Eagle, 62, Williamsport, died on Monday at a hospital there. Mr. Eagle had been confined to the hospital and his home for a period of two years. He was well-known in this vicinity.

Burial will take place Thursday morning in a Williamsport cemetery. He was the son of the late Lewis J. and Ellen C. Eagle, of Lansdowne and attended high school in that place. He later was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Eagle served two years in World War One. He is survived by his wife, Helen, and two sisters, Mrs. Fred Kresge, Henryville and Beatrice Eagle of Brooklyn, N. Y.; one brother, Al, of Easton.

Cast Headed By Edward Everett Horton Turns Mediocre Play Into Excellent Entertainment

By Leonard Randolph

Mountainhome — The Society for the Perpetuation of Edward Everett Horton on the American Stage had a big night Monday at Pocono Playhouse.

After what may have seemed a lifelong association with the comedy "Springtime for Henry" Mr. Horton is at last being seen in a "new play."

"Nina," which is currently serving as a vehicle for the mild-mannered humorist's talents, is not, in the strictest sense of the term "new."

The situations, for one thing, are quite familiar. Samuel Taylor's adaptation of the Andre Roussin play asks us to believe that an aging, unromantic husband (Horton), who discovers that his wife (Marta Linden) is having an affair with a dashing man of the world (Christopher Plummer) would rationalize himself into the position of attempting to kill first the young man, then his wife and, finally, himself — all for the sake of an ordered life.

Since the husband is an employee of the Ministry of Finance (French, that is) most of his decisions are purely analytical. He does not, for example, ever contemplate doing away with all three participants in the triangle — an emotional reaction, but one not in keeping with his sense of balance.

New—under ordinary circumstances—this bit of tomfoolery might be pretty heavy-handed stuff. With improper playing, direction or anything but the most discriminate characterization, the play would fall flat on its collective four-character face.

The cast assembled at the Playhouse is, in no sense of the term, an ordinary one, however. It has succeeded with amazing deftness in turning a rather mediocre play into a tremendously entertaining piece of theater.

Let me say here that I have never been one of those persons who considered Edward Everett Horton the world's most brilliant comedian.

This is mainly because, I think, his performance in motion pictures have been limited to the display of one or two well-calculated and easily identified "tricks" which, I am now ready to admit, constitute only a very small portion of the ability he possesses as an actor and a comedian.

What Mr. Horton does with the part of Adolphe Tessier could well serve as a handbook for younger comedies. He is, in short, a very funny individual.

More than this, however, the solicitous Mr. Horton has turned a trick on the author of the play. Taylor, I think, failed to write in sufficient motivational devices to make Tessier a believably hypochondriac intellectual.

Playing with an excellent sense of timing and a kind of lonely warmth seldom found in humorous portrayals, Horton's Tessier emerges as a quite believable and pathetically comic person.

Although there are only four characters in the play, it is constantly entertaining. This, again is due to the actors and not the adaptor.

The three central roles—the wife, the husband and the lover—are certainly some of the most difficult roles ever written for a farce comedy. Fluctuating constantly between one decision and another, one emotional reaction to another at an opposite pole, Tessier, Nina and Dupuis are quixotic characters, indeed.

In the role of Nina, Miss Linden puts life and color into an essentially unbelievable role. It is a tribute to her beauty, charm and professional ability that the title role is the strongly pivotal part in the play.

Given a less skillful interpretation, Nina would have bogged the whole play down. Its success depends almost entirely upon this one role.

Most young actors, taking upon themselves the responsibility of playing Dupuis, the lover, would have been tempted to portray the romantic gigolo as a suave, predatory animal.

Christopher Plummer, fortunately, has seen fit to dig a little deeper than the surface of his role.

As he plays Dupuis, the part emerges as a well-done satire on the efforts of the male to escape domination by the female.

Throughout the play, the lover tries consistently to think of a way to "break off" his affair with Nina with some degree of finality.

Near the end, the lover is prepared to run off to Mexico and "ride a horse" — an urge for freedom which is displaced by a conveniently placed taxi-cab.

When Mr. Plummer comes back on the stage after his brush with the mechanics of modern society he looks, for all the world, just like a man who has just been smacked by a roving taxi.

"Nina" is an essentially weak play. It has been made into riotous entertainment by the cast performing it.

In the only remaining part in the play, Tony Dowling—a member of the resident company—showed a decided improvement over some of his past performances this season. He was applauded by the audience on his exit.

This brings me to one point which, agreed, may be completely minor.

There is a theory among lesser playwrights that, when one cannot get a laugh any other way, the proper thing to do is throw in a "cussword."

I have nothing against colorful speech—providing it delineates a basic quality in the character using it.

Twice during Mr. Taylor's adaptation of "Nina," a character is called upon to shout an expletive which, although sophisticated and blasé, is not at all necessary to the motivation of the play or the portrayal of the character who is, theoretically calling upon a deity which he does not believe in existence.

While this may amuse some few persons in the audience, there are others who will be something less than pleased.

With that appropriate paraphrase of Shakespeare—and a vehement endorsement of Horton, Linden and Plummer—I would like to pass along the word to Mr. Taylor that "damn" is sufficient.

British Lose Art Of Making Tea, Say Plantation Owners

London (AP)—Have the tea-drinking British lost the art of making tea?

The tea kings, owners of huge plantations in India, Ceylon, East Africa and Indonesia, say a dozen years of rationing have knocked the know-how out of British tea making.

So much so, they say, that a whole generation of Britons has never had a decent cup of tea.

Through their London-based Tea Bureau, the tea men have just finished a survey showing that a lot of British youngsters don't drink tea any more. The reason — British mothers just don't make it properly.

The main trouble seems to be they don't put enough tea in the pot. And some don't even use a pot; they dip little bags into the cup, American-fashion. To old-

Reading Firm Starts Work On Installing 10 Miles Of Railroad At Signal Depot

Tobyhanna—The Scholes Co., Reading, Pa., has started work on installation of ten miles of railroad to be constructed on the $32,000,000 Signal Depot site here.

Work on all phases of the project is progressing normally, except for the "walk-off" of seven of a dozen union roofers and apprentices. Their retirement did not halt the work, since other workers remained on the job.

The walk-off took place Monday and workers were away from work again yesterday, Lt. Col. Charles E. Tucker, resident engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers reported yesterday.

The roofers are employed by the Columbia Corncor Co. of Massachusetts, a firm which apparently has its own foreman on the Signal Depot job. The walk-off reportedly occurred when the affected roofers felt the foreman was pushing their production work.

The Columbia firm is doing the roofing work under sub-contract from the Consolidated Construction Co., Woodbury, N. J.

Thomas Coyne, business agent of the Scranton local, International Association of Roofers, reported that seven Scranton local members have had a number of arguments with the foreman. The union roofers from Boston remained on the job.

Col. Tucker announced that one-third of the steel on the third of four warehouses under contract to Consolidated has been erected.

When To Stop Vital Point In Remodeling

"Remodel an old house, if you don't have to make too many structural changes." That's the advice of housing experts who point out that the commonest fault of remodelers is not knowing when to stop.

Using a 50-year-old house as an example, the experts recommend four basic changes. First, rewire the house completely for fire protection; second, install space heaters to avoid costly duct work; third, finish off the attic for needed living space; and fourth, cover old plaster walls rather than try to refinish them.

John For Experts
Rerewing a house and installing heating system are jobs for the experts. With easy-to-use building materials available again, it is relatively simple for the home owner to add an extra attic room or to cover damaged ceilings.

One of the modern materials being used widely for those remodeling jobs is structural insulating board. Since this product is both a building material and an insulation, the home owner can use it to build walls and ceilings while insulating against summer heat and winter cold.

Another advantage of using insulating board is that it eliminates the expense of decorating because the product is obtainable in various factory finishes. Insulating boards come in large 4-foot sheets as well as long, narrow planks and rectangular or square tiles.

Use Economy Wood In Attic

Thousands of home owners in the last few years have converted unused attic space into cozy, attractive bedrooms, dens or playrooms. The job often can be done at surprisingly little expense, particularly if a person is adept at household repairs.

The operation is simplified, of course, if the attic already is equipped with a finish floor. When it is not, however, one can have a floor of sturdy hardwood installed at comparatively small cost by selecting one of the economy grades of oak or other hardwood.

Although possessing adequate strength, resistance to wear and other qualities for which hardwood is famed, these are available at considerably lower prices than higher grades. The difference between the two grades is principally in appearance.

Economy grades in oak, the most widely used species, are No. 1 Common and No. 2 Common. In hard maple, beech and birch Third grade is most economically priced.

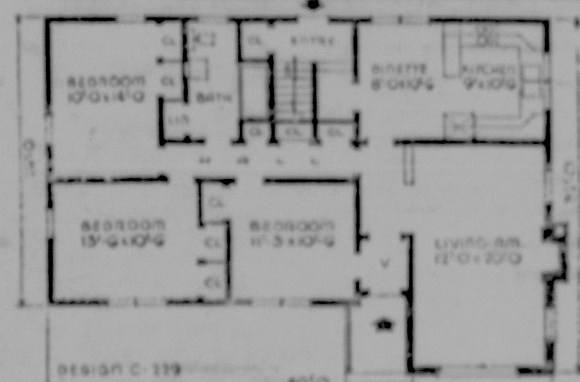

Furnish Your Home Wisely

One thing to remember in furnishing a home is that you do not have to do it over night. It is better to buy a few essential pieces for your bedroom and leave the living room bare than to buy "for the meantime."

Make up your mind to live for the rest of your life with any piece of furniture you purchase. Perhaps you will not. But if you have to, it will make it all the easier if you select it wisely.

Buyer Should Know

If you consider selling your home you should be able to tell the prospective buyer the terms of the existing mortgage on the property; its prepayment privileges, if any, and the amount of the unpaid principal.

THE CLEMENT has many interesting points to study. For instance, there are ten closets, three of them in the bedroom hall, with space saving wardrobe closets in the bedrooms. By placing a door from the vestibule to the front bedroom this room can be used as a den, study or office, with privacy from the balance of the house.

The front entrance is convenient to the kitchen and all rooms can be reached from the front hall.

Other features include an efficient kitchen with snack bar and dinette, shelves screening kitchen door, picture window, recessed tub and covered entrance.

Exterior finish is wide siding and asphalt shingles, stone facing of living room.

Dimensions are 46 feet by 32. Area is 1,274 square feet, cubage 24,765.

For further information about THE CLEMENT, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, the Small House Planning Bureau, of Canada, Box 1193, St. John's, New Brunswick.

Preserve Log Color With Oil

Logs left to weather turn gray and dull quickly. A hot oil treatment will preserve their colors. Linseed oil is boiled for this purpose. After it has been removed from the fire, but while still warm, turpentine is mixed in.

Turpentine is inflammable, so care should be used. One part turpentine to three of oil is good for a first coat; 1/4 turpentine for a second coat, and straight oil for the third.

This will allow the logs to mellow in soft natural colors.

Carefulness In Planning Shaves Cost

To build a home of minimum cost that will meet the needs of the family requires careful planning. According to the Housing and Home Finance Agency, the house must provide for the minimum needs of the family without overcrowding; most houses should be planned for possible future expansion, and adequate storage space should be provided.

Eliminating the basement and erecting the house on concrete slab saves in construction costs. The slab serves as a subfloor and obviates the expense of excavation and deep foundation walls. In the basementless home, a well-planned utility room should be provided for storage space and the equipment usually located in a basement.

Walls and roof represent about 20 per cent of the cost of a house, and to achieve possible savings care should be used in selection of materials for their construction. Bathroom and kitchen in back-to-back positions in a one-story house should produce a saving. In a two-story house, the bath should be placed directly above the kitchen to take advantage of a single plumbing stack.

Rock Piers Make Adequate Support For Cabin Of Logs

A solid foundation is as important to a rustic cabin as it is for any building.

A small cabin can rest on piers of concrete, or if the ground is very solid, rough native stone may be adequate.

Rock supports should be used at corners and for every 5 to 10 feet between. At least two large flat rocks should be used for each pier. The bottom rock will absorb dampness from the earth but it will not transmit it to the rock above. No mortar should be used for that reason.

Dig down to solid earth for concrete piers and wider footings if the ground is soft. Place a flat rock on top of the pier. Even off piers with the aid of a string and level.

Masonry or concrete foundations are required for larger structures.

should produce a saving. In a two-story house, the bath should be placed directly above the kitchen to take advantage of a single plumbing stack.

Land Transferred To Hamilton Board As Site For School

Building To Be Erected Near Sciota

A tract of 9.57 acres has been transferred to the Hamilton Township school district to serve as the site for the new elementary school to be erected near Sciota.

The deed was on record at the court house yesterday.

The property adjoins land of the granitors, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. McGuire, Allentown, and is located on Route 12 a short distance south of Sciota.

McGuire, a member of the Hamilton Township Civic League, offered part of his property to the school board at a league meeting last year.

At that time he was told about seven acres would be needed.

The Allentown man later granted the requested seven acres to the school board, including a required 400-foot frontage on Route 12, without cost.

A well 650 feet deep has been drilled at the site for a cost of $2,601. The State has approved the gallons-per-minute flow and the State Health Department has O.K'd the purity of the water.

The school board later decided to buy an additional portion of the field on which the new school will stand, and paid $650 for the additional 2.57 acres.

The school board also took an option on 8.2 acres of property in a field adjoining the school site. The option was granted without cost by McGuire at a sale price of $3,075. It will expire in the Fall unless the school board elects to exercise its right to buy.

The property on which the board holds an option has a 615-foot frontage on Route 12, which would give the school site a total 1,015-foot frontage if the land was purchased.

At its last meeting school board members were discussing the advisability of exercising the option as an investment and as protection to school property.

Other deeds recorded yesterday were:

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Dennis, Stroud Township, transferred to Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Roemer, Long Island, N.Y., a Stroud Township property on the Kemmerstown-Delaware Water Gap road.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Richardson, Stroudsburg, purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Grover S. Fabel, of Stroudsburg, a piece of land in that borough on N. Eighth St.

Two Stroud Township lots on Maple St., Pokona suburb, have been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. LaBadie, East Stroudsburg, from Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Transue of Stroud Township.

Transferred from the Tanite Co., Stroudsburg Township, to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Flyte, that township, was a Stroud tract on Township Road 414, (the Tanite road).

Recorder Floyd Butz also placed on record five rights-of-way purchased by the Metropolitan Edison Co., of which two were in Stroud two in Middle Smithfield, and one in Smithfield Townships.

Two Couples Seek Licenses

Raymond F. Kibler, Kresgeville, and Mary C. Zadorosny, Palmerston, applied for a marriage license at the courthouse yesterday. Also applying were Charles L. McDonald, Deep Spring, Fla., and Mary A. Jones, East Stroudsburg.

Spanish War Vet Records Discharge

Deputy Recorder Kathryn Bush is used to recording discharges of World War One, World War Two, and Korean War veterans—but she did a double take at one discharge brought in for recording yesterday.

"To All Whom It May Concern," the soldier's discharge began, in polite and grammatical correctness.

It went on to report the honorable discharge of William J. Mahoney, a private of Co. E of the Ninth Regiment of Massachusetts volunteers, who was "enrolled" for a two-year hitch which started May 4, 1898.

The heavy yellowing paper went on to state that Pvt. Mahoney was a plumber, aged 19, when he enlisted to serve in the Spanish American War.

Group Plans For Outdoor Art Exhibit

The Pocono Mountains Art Group is sponsoring an outdoor art exhibit at the Court House Square beginning Friday. Miss Olivia Dreher (phone 1380R) is chairman of the event and is making all preparation for the outdoor show.

Anyone interested in showing oil paintings, water colors or pastels is welcome to exhibit at the show. The only stipulation is that the paintings be cared for by the exhibitor. Paintings will be for sale. Further information concerning exhibit may be obtained from Miss Dreher.

The next fall meeting of the Art Group will be held early in September with election of officers slated. Robert Logan is president, Arthur A. Widmer is secretary.

Main Speaker Is Selected For Institute

Announcement of the major speaker at this year's first "teacher's institute" was made yesterday by the office of Monroe County Superintendent of Schools John C. Litts.

Wesley Northridge Haines, nationally-known humorist and educator, will deliver two addresses at the opening institute sessions on Monday, Sept. 22 at East Stroudsburg Junior High School.

Haines is a graduate of Brown University where he became a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity and of the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School.

He has since received a Ph. D. degree from Harvard University and has served as assistant to the president of Keuka College (liberal arts college for women) in Keuka Park, N.Y.

Since his entry into the educational field, Haines has become a leader in civic and school activities in his home state.

Nationwide speaking tours have identified him in the minds of audiences as a "man with a serious message—fold in a humorous manner."

As his first subject, Dr. Haines has chosen "Humor In A Free Democracy" with the general theme that "people are free as long as they can laugh."

A second address will deal with "Education for Better Human Relations" and "teaching community and world citizenship."

This year's second "institute" day comes on Oct. 10, at which time the Northeastern District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association will convene at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College campus.

Under the direction of Austin Snyder, superintendent of schools at Sayre, Pa. and president of the District PSEA, the teachers will hear a series of entertaining and enlightening talks on current educational problems.

The groups will then be subdivided into discussion divisions for purposes of treating specific problems encountered in the public schools.

Teachers in Monroe County schools are relieved of teaching duties during both of these days, and school is dismissed so that they may attend the area's two most important educational conferences.

Assistant County Superintendent Walter Sebring announced yesterday that, as usual, the public is invited to attend any of the addresses scheduled for "institute days."

There is no admission charge and educators are encouraging the participation of parents and other interested residents in discussions of the public schools.

Clarence Huey Promoted At AF Ceremony

Tobyhanna — In ceremonies at Camp Gordon, N. C., Clarence F. Huey, son of Mrs. Martha Huey, accepted the oath of enlistment as warrant officer junior grade, United States Air Force. The ceremony was conducted by Lt. Robert W. Gottlieb, squadron adjutant of 35th Training Squadron. Huey is a veteran of 12 years service, with two years of overseas service. He formerly was first sergeant.

Brutal Slaying Stymies Police

Bedford — The brutal slaying of a Marine sergeant on Pennsylvania's super highway developed into a top mystery for State police yesterday. After a 24-hour investigation they reported "nothing new at all."

Only clue in the beating and robbery of Sgt. Robert K. Wright is a blood-stained claw hammer. Police are seeking two hitchhikers seen in the vicinity of the spot where Wright's blood spattered automobile and wallet were found.

Wright, from Dillon, S. C., and attached to Company A headquarters battery at the Naval Annex in Arlington, Va., died Monday without regaining consciousness eight hours after being found slugged along the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Good Home Needs Sturdy Foundation

A good house has well-built walls and footings, sturdy frame construction, sound and attractive doors, good plumbing and heating installations and good electric wiring, according to the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The foundation has to bear the weight of the house, and should be well built. Good walls are also essential. It is better to forego temporarily some of the mechanical helps, appliances or decorative effects and put the money into sound foundations and walls.

Church Editor To Speak At Graduation

A widely known churchman and editor will be the principal speaker at Summer commencement exercises at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College on Friday at 2 p. m.

Garland Evans Hopkins, associate editor of The Christian Century will deliver an address on "You Can Influence World Affairs" to the graduates and their guests in the college auditorium.

Hopkins is one of those clergymen who may be said to have accepted the world as a pastorate.

As an official observer for the Methodist Church and the Churches' Commission on International Affairs, he has traveled in 50 countries during the past seven years, studying at firsthand how best to achieve the age-old Christian dream of "peace on earth and good will among men."

Hopkins has conferred with numerous world leaders during that time.

Included on this list of conferees are the Indian leaders, Nehru and Gandhi; Rozas and Laurel in the Philippines; Katayama and Kagawa in Japan; Syngman Rhee in Korea; North African leaders Ben Youssef and Al Madani and Jordan's King Abdullah.

The noted clergyman served as a representative to the Inter-Asian Relations Conference in New Delhi, India in 1947 and was an observer at the Round Table Conference at The Hague.

He also served on the Palestine Conciliation Commission at Lausanne, Switzerland in 1949 and was a delegate to an Australian conference in Melbourne, that country, in 1945.

In addition to his editorial assignments, Hopkins is the author of several books on international affairs.

He brings to his interpretations of international developments an exceptionally wide and intimate personal knowledge of the peoples of the world's tension areas and their leaders.

His interpretations of world events are invariably seen through the eyes of the churchman, yet he does not underestimate political and economic factors in such developments.

Hopkins was born in Virginia, the son of a Methodist minister and is himself a licensed minister of that church who served several pastorates in the South before entering the Army as a chaplain during the war.

He spent 30 months in the Pacific as a chaplain, as an international liaison officer between the American forces and the Dutch, Australians, Indonesians and the Filipinos.

One of his most unique assignments came in 1945 when he went to the island of Okinawa Shima, one of the chain of Ryukyus Islands below the tip of the Japanese mainland, to make a survey of the historical, cultural and religious backgrounds of the island for the U. S. Military Government.

Since that time he has held a number of important posts with the Methodist church and other inter-denominational councils.

Household Hints

Use fruit garnish when you are serving cold sliced ham for a summer buffet. Minted pears, fresh pineapple rings centered with cherries, and round slices of orange will all taste good and look attractive with the meat.

If you want to make delicious iced tea be sure to use freshly drawn water in your teakettle; hot water from the tap may give a strange flavor.

MINOT FRAZIER JELKE III, 22, heir to an oleomargarine fortune, leaves New York's City Prison after he was released on $50,000 bail. He was one of 7 persons arrested in a series of vice raids in Manhattan. The charges against Jelke included compulsory prostitution, conspiracy and possessing two loaded pistols. The defendant denied the charges. Jelke attributed the accusations to a girl who, he said, might have considered herself jilted by him. (International)

YOU CAN INFLUENCE WORLD AFFAIRS! That's the subject of Garland Evans Hopkins' commencement address at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, Friday Aug. 22 at 2 p. m. in the college auditorium. Thursday, Aug. 21.

College To Grant Degrees To 31 Seniors On Friday

A class of 31 students will receive degrees in East Stroudsburg State Teachers College commencement exercises Friday, Aug. 22.

The commencement program opens at 2 p. m. in the campus auditorium with Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, delivering the invocation.

Following the opening prayer, the audience will sing "America, The Beautiful."

A commencement address—"You Can Influence World Affairs"—will be delivered by Garland Evans Hopkins, associate editor of the widely-circulated and influential religious magazine, The Christian Century.

Following the address the audience will again join in singing Julia Ward Howe's "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The customary conferment of degrees will then be performed with college president Joseph F. Noonan presiding.

Stated to receive the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education are the following graduates:

Evelyn Evan Bagstrom, Woodrow W. Berger, Amelia L. Bohannan, Thomas Edward Carr, Gladwin James Comes, Raymond J. Costello, Harold James Davis, John Brydie Davis, Eida Arlene Dunning, Lois Mae Earnhart, Phoebe Ellett, Naomi Trainer Evans, Allan G. Geuther, Leonard Francis Jengeleski and Horace Arthur Johnson.

Also Joseph Hospodar, Paul Kukulius, Albert A. Parnell, George Thomas Spillane, Joseph Austin Taylor, Donald Walter Transue

Canada Says Animal Virus Wiped Out

Ottawa (AP)—Canada proclaimed herself free of foot-and-mouth disease yesterday and removed all restrictions on the movement of livestock and meats across the country.

It was good news for the nation's two billion dollar livestock industry, jarred last February by discovery of the crippling virus among herds of cattle, sheep and hogs in the Regina area of South Saskatchewan.

To livestock men, a big question now is when the United States will remove the embargo it slapped on all Canadian livestock, meat, hay and straw to prevent the spread of the disease across the border.

Canada sold 130 million dollars worth of those products to the United States last year. She normally supplies about 2 per cent of the meat eaten at U. S. dinner tables.

Pointedly, Canadian officials said a copy of the Agriculture Department's declaration giving the industry a clean bill of health will be sent to Washington with a request for early consideration of ending the U. S. embargo.

But the U. S. government planned to wait a while, S. O. Fladness, acting chief of the U. S. Agriculture Department's Bureau of Animal Husbandry, said: "We want to make sure that all danger of infecting our livestock industry is over."

A similar U. S. embargo against Mexican livestock, in effect since 1946, is scheduled to be lifted Sept. 1.

Dear Sir:

The following bit of doggerel, inspired by one of your stories in today's issue, is offered without obligation for whatever use you may wish to make of it:

THE FIFTH STREET BRIDGE
(with apologies to Walt Mason)

I read it in the paper and I know it must be so, how the traffic has to taper for the Fifth and Ann Street flow; how the bridge across McMichael's ought to have a shorter span; how the torrent in its cycles needs a newer, neater plan. The water isn't needed now, except by Holland Thread and the Fire Department standpipe; otherwise the raceway's dead. They can make the channel smaller, they'll report September three on the savings made per dollar in the engineering fee. Then they'll widen out the highway, and grade and cut and fill, till we zip along this byway to the foot of Foxtown Hill. Oh, what a blessing, what a day, and what a drivers' heaven, when ninety leads without delay right into six-eleven!

Loose Ground Poor House Site

Construction engineers advise against building a house on freshly filled land. They warn that a house built on land which is not firm is likely to settle so much that it will be damaged.

Home builders also are cautioned to be careful when selecting rocky ground as a home site. If one side of a house rests on rock and the other side on soil, the house will settle unevenly.

Repaint After Removing Wax

Be sure to see that all wax is thoroughly removed before having floors refinished. If the floors were previously treated with the kind of wax that requires rubbing to polish it, the floor surface should be soaked with turpentine or a turpentine substitute called petroleum spirits. After the wax has softened, wipe it completely away. Then clean again with the solvent. If a non-rubbing wax has been used, a good household cleaner mixed with warm water should be sufficient to remove it.

Reflects No Highlights

A flat paint is a type designed to produce a lusterless finish. It is widely used on interior walls.

Cleaning Copper

Before copper is given a protective coating it should be cleaned of all oiliness and then wiped off with benzine. The final operation is the application of a coat of clear, brushing lacquer.

Wm. Frable Oldest Man At Reunion

The 74th annual reunion of the Fravel-Frable family was held at the West End fair grounds, Gilbert, on Sunday when the principal speaker was Rev. Gordon A. Oswald, pastor of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren in Christ Church, Aquashicola. He spoke on the subject, "The Pennsylvania Dutch," bringing out many details.

Stanley A. Berger, the president, presided at the business meeting. There was group singing and the Ben Salem band, John E. Kresge, director, furnished the music. The band also gave a concert at night when the day's program was climaxed by a cakewalk.

Prizes were awarded. William Frable, (88 years) of Scranton, was the oldest man present. The oldest woman was Mrs. Nettie Kresge (85 years) of Bethlehem. Mr. and Mrs. Lovene Frable, of Kunkletown, were the couple married longest, 56 years. The most recently married couple were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frable, of Princeton, N.J., two months.

Garden Club Hears Talk On Israel Work

Bushkill—The Bushkill Garden Club held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Jacob Blaufarb on Thursday, August 14. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. B. H. Bentley. There were 14 members and eight guests present.

An invitation was extended to the members and friends to attend the Milford Garden Club's annual flower show on August 29 from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. at the Casino, in Milford.

Mrs. Blaufarb gave a talk on Israel where she had visited this past Spring. She told of the women's position and the work which has been accomplished through the donations from the various relief organizations in America.

Homes for the young people, kindergartens and community villages, she said, have been among the successful projects that have helped to raise the standards of the state of Israel which is about the size of the state of Delaware.

The state was established in 1948 and the population has more than doubled in the past four years, Mrs. Blaufarb said.

The next meeting will be held on Sept. 11 at the Community House when Mrs. Natalie Bowen, a professional horticulturist will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Argus Miller and Mrs. Charles Beck will serve as hostesses at this meeting.

After the meeting refreshments were served to the group by their hostess, Mrs. Blaufarb.

Stroud Twp. Fire Dept. Aux. Is Closing Successful Year

The recent monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Stroud Township Fire Dept., held at the Northern Stroud fire house, presided over by the president, Mrs. G. Alvin Shook, was given encouraging reports. There was a large attendance.

The carnival committee reported that definite plans had been made to participate in the carnival to be held on Wyckoff's lot, West Main St., Stroudsburg, Aug. 25 to 30, inclusive. Ladies desiring to work at the stands are requested to contact Mrs. Clyde White.

Plans for Fall activities were discussed among them presentation of a variety show. The following committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements: Mrs. Ruth Anglemeyer, Miss Florence Bates, Mrs. Thelma Layton, Mrs. Z. Wagner and Mrs. Harold Albert.

The Northern Stroud group of ladies surprised the auxiliary by serving refreshments at the close of the meeting.

The September meeting will be held at the Southern Stroud fire house when the re-elected and new officers will take office as follows: President, Mrs. Shook; first vice president, Miss Alice Keller; second vice president, Mrs. Robert Layton; secretary, Mrs. Lona Albert; Asst. Secy, Mrs. Philip Henning; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clyde White; treasurer, Mrs. Howard L. Keller Jr.; trustees, Mrs. Ernest Anglemeyer, Miss Florence Bates and Mrs. Wilfred Wagner.

The third year of the auxiliary is drawing to a close with a membership of 130, who are credited with having worked hard in the interest of the department. According to report, the group has turned over to the treasurer of the fire department $1,500 toward the purchase of two fire trucks.

The Auxiliary has also bought raincoats and hats, first aid kits for the fire trucks, heating plants for the Northern and Southern Stroud fire houses, nozzles for hose and chairs for the Middle Stroud fire house among other things.

The auxiliary extends thanks to the citizens of the township for their generous appeals, their kindly attitude toward solicitors urge their cooperation to make the coming year still a better one than the past.

The speaker was Rev. Dr. E. T. Horn, pastor of the Tannersville Lutheran Church charge, who retired as instructor in religion at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, in the Spring. Dr. was for many years engaged in missionary work in Japan and prior to World War Two was president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary in that country.

Dr. Horn spoke on the "Prospects of Japan." He emphasized the strong hope of the Japanese people who have shown a strong democratic feeling which exists and which will prove a bulwark against communism. The one thing essential to achieve this result, Dr. Horn declared was for American people and Christians especially to provide them with Christianity.

Gene Schiller Is Hostess To Voice Students

Gene Schiller, instructor in music, was hostess to a number of her younger voice pupils at her apartment, 538 1/2 Main St., yesterday afternoon. The young people presented Italian folk songs as a group and later in vocal numbers.

Later they were entertained with refreshments at the Wyckoff tea room.

Those who participated in the period of song were: Ann and Susan Shafer, Marilyn and Phyllis, of Club Court, and Mrs. Phyllis Groner, a member of the group, was unable to be present being in Florida with her parents.

Engagement Of Miss Williams Is Announced

Mrs. Sara Williams, of 83 N. Third St., Stroudsburg, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Marion Thelma Williams, to Charles E. Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. McLain Webb, of Brunswick, N. J.

Marion is a senior at Stroudsburg High School and Charles is employed by the Belbrow Trucking Co., of Brunswick. A September wedding is being planned.

Wilson Clan Gather At Playground

The Wilson family reunion, held at the Stroudsburg playground on Sunday was very largely attended and was featured by the presence of Howard Wilson, the oldest person, who is 81 years of age, his eight children, 25 grandchildren and 28 great grandchildren.

However, his daughter, Mrs. Freeman Dyson, of Pocono Pines, had the largest number of children in attendance.

A basket picnic luncheon was enjoyed by the members and games were played during the course of the afternoon. It was decided to hold the 1953 reunion the second Sunday in August.

The officers elected were: President, Mrs. Edith G. Everitt, Arlington Heights; vice president, Mrs. Sarah Wilson, Stroudsburg; secretary, Thelma Wilson, Pocono Pines; treasurer, George Wilson, Pocono Lake; historian, Milton E. Everitt, Stroudsburg, and musician, Harvey Altemose, with the US Navy at Bainbridge, Md.

There were members of the family present from Connecticut, Massachusetts, Long Island, N. Y., Bainbridge, Md.; Philadelphia, Swiftwater, New Jersey, Tobyhanna, Mississippi, Palmerton, East Bangor, Locust Ridge, Pocono Pines, Pocono, Mount Pocono and the Stroudsburgs.

Shawnee Pres. S. S. Picnic This Afternoon

Shawnee—The Sunday School of the Shawnee Presbyterian Church will hold a picnic at the Stroudsburg playground this afternoon with baked ham supper at 6:15.

Members are to meet at the parish house at 3 p.m. where Sterling Walter will have his school bus in waiting to transport them to the place for the outing. Mothers are also invited to participate.

There will be games with prizes and swimming for the entertainment of the young folks and also the various facilities of the recreation center.

The fathers are to join the party for the baked ham supper at 6:15 and participants are asked to bring their own table service. The supper will be followed by a ball game.

If your cake is a disappointing undersize, the fault may be due to not enough baking powder or soda, too large a pan, too hot an oven, or overmixing of the ingredients.

Greene-Dreher Fair All Set For 36th Annual Three-Day Run

Full Program Arranged For Exhibition

Newfoundland — Final preparations are being made at the fair grounds here for the 36th annual Greene-Dreher Community Fair which will open its three-day run on Thursday.

Ground Superintendent Fred McLean, who for the past week has been supervising the erection of temporary structures on the fair grounds, announced yesterday that work on this particular feature is now near completion.

Additional buildings located on the Greene-Dreher-Sterling school grounds will be used by the fair to house exhibits.

A complete carnival has been set up for use during the fair, officials said yesterday. Included as a part of the carnival are the usual rides for children and adults—a carousel, ferris wheel and newer inventions for entertainment.

On opening night, the Greene-Dreher school band will perform in the first of a series of concert programs. The band will also be heard on Friday.

The full Nazareth band has been scheduled for Saturday in both afternoon and night performances.

Slated for noon Saturday is the annual "old folks" dinner honoring community residents who are 80 years old or older.

A similar dinner will be held in honor of all "golden wedding" celebrants at the fair.

Members of the Greene-Dreher volunteer fire association will serve a dinner at noon on the closing day with supper also prepared for serving between the hours of 5 p.m. and 7 p.m.

To accommodate late entrants, the entrance clerk will be on duty on the grounds Thursday from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. to accept entries and arrange exhibit space.

Among the various classifications in which entries will be received are: livestock, poultry, farm crops, culinary arts (cooking), horticulture, canned goods, and needlework.

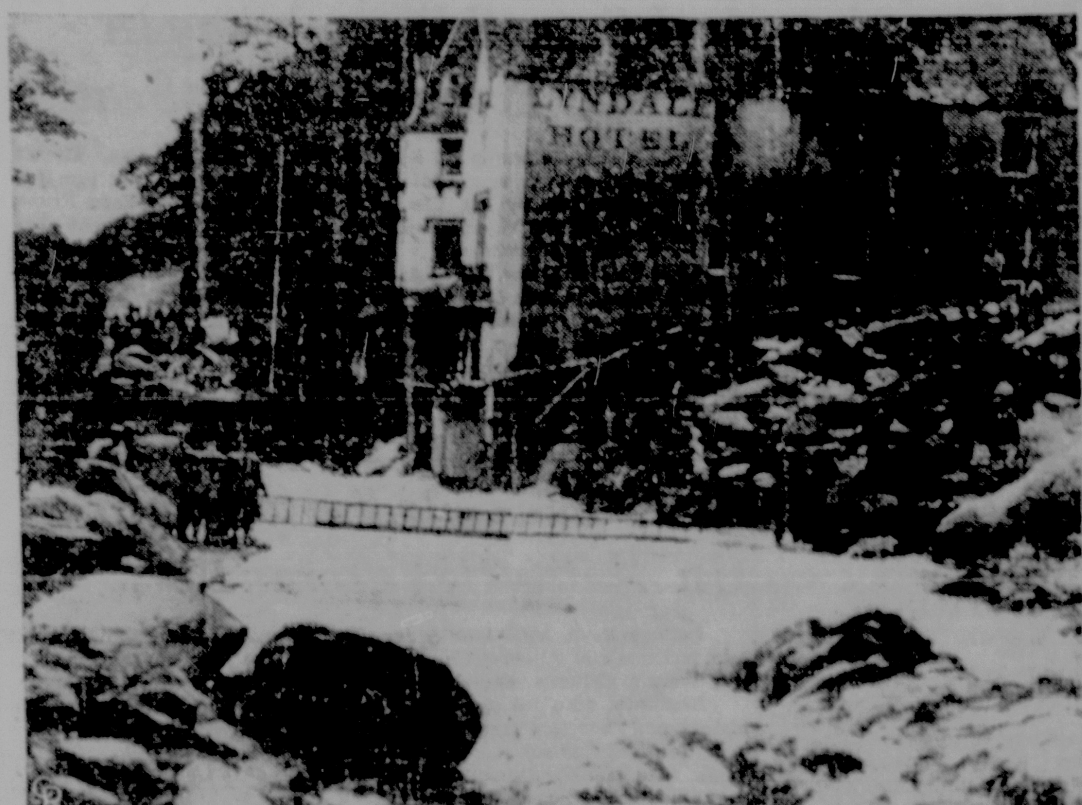

Special classifications are open for boys and girls under 12 years of age, the fair officials announced.

Vocational agriculture students and girls enrolled in home economics courses are also eligible for participation in the fair, under the rules of separate classifications.

Entries submitted by young men and women will be judged separately.

All entries, with the exception of livestock, will be judged Friday morning on the fair grounds.

Livestock will go before the judges at 1:15 Friday. All exhibits will remain on display until 4 p.m. Saturday at which time farm crops will be sold at auction in the Greene-Dreher High School

Kunzig To Abide By Tradition

Harrisburg (AP) — Robert L. Kunzig, state deputy attorney general, does not intend to be a candidate for re-election as chairman of the Pennsylvania Federation of Young Republican Clubs.

Kunzig, a Philadelphian, announced yesterday he will not try to change the policy which has never seen a chairman hold more than one two-year term. Upon his withdrawal, Enoch Thomas, an attorney in Forty Fort, became the leading candidate for the post. The federation, which claims 20,- 000 members, holds its biennial convention in Harrisburg Friday and Saturday.

Mitchell Threat To Fain's Lead

New York, (AP)—Philadelphia's Ferris Fain, seeking his second straight American League batting crown, is running into stiff competition from Dale Mitchell, Cleveland outfielder.

Fain, although he maintains his position at the top of the AL heap, dropped 13 points last week to 333. The heavy-hitting first baseman collected only eight safeties in 38 times at bat.

The 30-year-old Mitchell, who boasts a lifetime mark of 316, zoomed up from fourth with an 11 point spurt to 325, only eight points behind Fain. The veteran Indians' flycatcher rapped out 11 hits in 23 trips (a .478 clip). Averages include games of Sunday.

In the National League, Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals at 326 holds an 11 point advantage over Cincinnati first sacker, Ted Kluszewski. Musial, with 7-for-21 last week, tacked one point onto his average while Kluszewski picked up seven points to 315 with a 10-for-24 showing.

Gene Woodling of the New York Yankees, second last week, dropped to third in the American League with a .321 average. The timely-hitting outfielder, whose single was the key blow in the Yankees' victory over Boston last Sunday, lost four points as a result of his 7-for-26 effort.

George Kell, the 1949 American League batting champion, took an 11 point nose-dive to 313, but fell only one rung to fourth. The Red Sox third baseman had six hits in 32 tries.

Mantle Fifth
The fifth spot is occupied by Mickey Mantle, New York's sensational sophomore. Mickey improved his average two points to .307, moving up two points to 307, moving up two notches from seventh.

Jackie Jensen of the Washington Senators and Bill Goodman of Boston are tied for sixth at 302 followed by Dom DiMaggio, also of the Red Sox, 301; Eddie Robinson, Chicago, first baseman, 300 and Chicago's Nellie Fox and Hank Bauer of New York at 299 each.

Larry Doby, Cleveland's hard-hitting outfielder, continued to lead the American League in home runs with 26 and in runs batted in with 81.

Third place in the National League parade is held by Whitey Lockman, New York Giant first baseman. Whitey, at 311, showed a three point gain over last week. Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson picked up five points to 308 and moved into fourth. The speedy Negro second sacker had 12 hits in 33 times at bat.

The ageless Enos Slaughter remains fifth with a .304 mark. The hustling St. Louis outfielder fell two points as a result of his 5-for-18 showing.

Rounding out the NL top ten are Red Schoendienst, St. Louis, 302; Frankie Baumholtz, Chicago, 303; Andy Pafko of Brooklyn and Tom Atwell of Chicago, 299 and Chicago's Dee Fondy at 298.

Chicago's big Hank Sauer with 31 homers and 99 runs batted in remains the NL pace-setter in those departments. Preacher Roe, Brooklyn left-hander, with eight victories and one defeat, is still the National League's top hurler while Sandy Consuegra, Washington's Cuban right-hander heads the American League hurlers with a 6-0 record. Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia A's has the most AL victories, 21.

Associated Press Scribe Sees Durocher's Coat Of Sweetness Wearing Thin, Temper Shows

New York, (AP)—Leo Durocher had better get out that can of varnish he used to gloss over his truculent nature last year. The coat reflecting only sweetness and light is beginning to wear thin, and his temper is showing through.

The dapper boss of the Giants got himself involved with a covey of umpires at the Polo Grounds last Sunday, and lost, as usual, drawing a five-day suspension and $100 fine for his shenanigans.

Stockertown Blanks Roseto In Playoff

Keglovitz Nips Muhr In Mound Duel

Roseto — Stockertown, the team that made the Blue Mountain League playoffs for the skin of its teeth, opened the post-season action with a 2-0 victory over Roseto here yesterday, on the losing club's home grounds.

John Keglovitz, one of Stockertown's first line hurlers, was touched for eight hits, but the strong armed right-hander was tight in the clutch and kept the home team away from piddling.

Bob "Lefty" Muhr, pitched another of his crafty contests, allowing five hits, but one of the safeties was a towering home run by Bill Hann. Stockertown's center fielder, with the bases bare in the second round.

Stockertown opened the scoring with a singleton in the first.

Neither team was able to dent the plate after the second inning, as Muhr and Keglovitz matched scoreless frames right through the seventh and final frame.

Roseto will attempt to even the series tomorrow, when the charges of Manager Mike Renaldo invade Stockertown for the second battle in the best-two-out-of-three series.

Hann was the big gun for Stockertown, driving out a single in addition to his homer.

Leonard Castellucci and Vince DeFranco each pounded out a pair of singles for Roseto.

Portland and Tatamy, with the former one game up, renew their half of the playoff struggle on Friday, at Tatamy.

Breach of Peace
A flagrant breach of the peace by Durocher might result in a very severe penalty indeed, as his record, which includes a year's suspension, is something that might rise to haunt him at any time. So it must be believed there were extenuating circumstances to cause him to risk another stern penalty.

Durocher isn't the only offender in these dog days when the weather, tempers and the pennant races are hot. The same day he was sent trudging toward the distant clubhouse, Chicago White Sox Manager Paul Richards and catcher Sherman Lollar were tossed out in Cleveland and two players were ejected at Ebbets Field, where the Dodgers and Phils were engaged in combat.

Coach Eddie Mayo and second baseman Connie Ryan of the Phils were thumped out for prolonged and noisy yammering about a play in which they believed their team got the worst of it.

George Metkovich of Pittsburgh, who seems to be making a career of being ousted by Frank Dascoli, was fined $75 after being ejected for the fourth time by that umpire. Inasmuch as Metkovich never has been tossed out by any other umpire, it must be assumed he has an allergy as far as Dascoli is concerned.

Such flareups in mid-August are not uncommon, as the end of the pennant races are in sight and the importance of each game becomes magnified in the player's mind, although the games are of no more importance than the April games.

The athletes, if they are on a team still in contention, are fighting for a share of World Series loot, and players on teams with no pennant hopes are playing for their next year's contracts.

Two Umps Hurt In Auto Accident
Albany, N. Y. (AP)—Two Eastern League baseball umpires were reported in "good" condition at St. Peter's Hospital yesterday after their car, driven by a third umpire, and a tractor-trailer had collided on the Albany-Schenectady road.

Injuries
Gerald Morrissey, 25, of Boston, suffered arm lacerations and Martin Powers, 25, of Williamsport, Pa., suffered a back injury. Police said Sidney Borgia, 35, of New York City, was driving the car. Borgia was not injured.

Two Surprises Mark Second Round Play In National Amateur Golf Tournament At Seattle

Seattle (AP)—One former amateur champion and the 1951 runner-up were eliminated in the second round of the National Amateur Golf championship yesterday but in general the golfing talent did exactly what was expected on the hilly, tree-lined Seattle golf club course.

Chick Evans, champion in 1936 and 1939, lost to Richard D. Henson of Coos Bay, Ore., two and one, and Joe Gagliardi of Manamouche, N. Y., runner-up in last year's tournament, was beaten on the 18th hole by his Westchester County, N. Y., neighbor, Bobby Euntz of Larchmont.

The defeat of Evans left Charlie Coe, the Oklahoma City string-bean as the only ex-champion in the field. Coe, winner in 1919, beat another Oklahoma City player, Russell L. Brown, five and four.

He advanced along with such celebrated players as Harvey Ward of Tarboro, N. C., the British Amateur titleholder; Frank Stranahan of Toledo, who has won the British title twice but never the American Walker cup; players Billy Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., and Jimmy McHale of Manamouche, N. Y.

Larry Dana Jr., Greensburg, Pa., beat Dr. Robert N. Knutson, San Francisco, four and two.

Stroudsburg High Releases Football Slate

Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager at Stroudsburg High School last night released the Mountaineers 1951 football schedule, which consists of 10 games, five to be played at Gordon Giffels field and the same number on the road.

The charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis open the campaign against Lehigh Valley High on Friday, September 12, at Giffels field, under the lights. All night games played at home are slated to get underway at 8 p.m.

Second Battle
Stroudsburg plays host to Bangor, also at night at Giffels field, one week after Lehigh Valley.

The Mountaineers bring the campaign to a close with its invasion of East Stroudsburg's Memorial Stadium on Thanksgiving Day. This contest is slated to get underway at 10 a.m.

All afternoon contests are carded for 2 p.m.

Schedule follows:
Sept. 12—Lehigh Valley — Home (8 p.m.)
Sept. 19—Bangor — Home (8 p.m.)
Sept. 27—Bangor — Away (2 p.m.)

Line Material and Monroe Silk
the fourth and third place teams in the final regular season standings of the Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs, will clash for the post-season playoff championship today, at Gordon Giffels field. The game is scheduled to start promptly at 6 p.m.

International Boiler, the regular season title holder, was upset by Monroe Silk on the same Giffels field on Monday.

Surprise
Line Material, the club that never challenged for the top spot during the regular campaign, came up with a surprise victory over Worthington Mower, number two club in the final standings, at East Stroudsburg Playground on Monday.

Today's action winds up the first season for the Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will open its 1952 football practice on Tuesday, September 2, on the college field. All grid candidates will return to school early to get the conditioning grind under way. Head coach, Gene Martin and assistant George Ockershausen held a meeting on Monday, at which time the two mentors began preparations for the season just around the corner. The Warriors will be playing without several familiar football figures, such as Dick Pritchard, Howard "Howie" Petherbaugh and other stars.

Members of the International Roller baseball team, regular season champion of the Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburgs, will see Friday's struggle between the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees at New York. Barbara Waltz, scorer for IBW, is probably the most loyal baseball fan connected with the game today, even though there was nothing at stake but pride in Monday's playoff encounter that IBW dropped to Monroe Silk, 4-3. Speaking of the Little Bigger League brings to mind the complete reversal of form during the semi-final round of the playoffs.

IBW, regular season title holder, and Worthington Mower, second place club in the final tabulation, fell before Monroe Silk and Line Material, third and fourth place contingents in the four-club field. Monroe Silk and Line Material clash at Gordon Giffels field today. According to the latest issue of the Sporting News, Casey Stengel still thinks that Harry Schaeffer, former southpaw hurler with the Stroudsburg Poconos, will play a prominent part in bringing the Yankees their fourth straight pennant. It's been many days since Harry made his last appearance on the mound for the Bronx Bombers.

Jack Rothenhauser, former outfielder and pitcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos, is hitting at a .319 clip for Union City, Tenn., according to the latest class "D" Kitty League statistics available. Jack, until the release of the figures, had appeared in 89 games, went to bat 348 times, made 111 hits, bled out 17 home runs and drove 169 runs across the plate. Bill Wilson, southpaw pitcher from Easton, who worked out with Pocono A. C. earlier in the season, suffered his second setback of the campaign on Monday, when Allentown defeated Hagerstown, 5-2, in a class "B" Inter-State League contest.

Ted Wicand, former Slatington High mound ace, worked the distance on the hill for Allentown to gain credit for the victory. Wilson has seven victories to his credit in the present campaign, while Wicand has won a total of nine games. Billy Long, former infielder with the Stroudsburg Poconos and manager of the Bangor-Berwick franchise, both of the class "D" North Atlantic League, has his Tarboro entry in seventh place in the current Coastal Plain League standings.

If Rod Munday, of York, should repeat as the Philadelphia PGA champion this year at Shawnee, he may owe it to the golfing cap presented him yesterday by Harry Obitz, Shawnee pro, after Harry was knocked from the running by Carmen Steppo. The cap is a "flying saucer" affair, made of bright blue material, with a top and peak but very little else. It's really a hot weather cap and according to Harry it makes a breeze as you walk. Spectators sitting near the 18th green at Shawnee yesterday received their share of thrills, as many of the matches were decided by long and short putts on the final hole.

East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg Little Leaguers have at least two big days remaining on the 1952 agenda. The Eastburg All-Stars will tangle with a team composed of managers and league officials in comedy game tomorrow, with members of the Ladies Auxiliary serving as umpires. Stroudsburg plays host to the Pocono Mountains Little League All-Stars on Friday, for the second time in as many weeks. The same two foes battled to a 1-1 deadlock on the Stroudsburg field last Friday.

Jim Barnhardt, who attended one year of school at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and then began his professional diamond career with Bangor, of the North Atlantic League, recently missed tossing his third no-hitter since joining the Portsmouth club, of the class "B" Piedmont League. Jim allowed a single in the second inning to Miff Davidson, as Portsmouth defeated Lynchburg, 3-0. Barnhardt's two hitless performances were against Roanoke on Tuesday, July 22 of this year, and Richmond, on August 25, 1951.

Ray Bortz, who began his professional baseball career with Nazareth, of the North Atlantic League, in 1948, was recently labeled "the best shortstop in service with U.S. Army troops in Austria." Ray, who played with Hagerstown, of the Inter-State League last year, will join Hartford, of the class "A" circuit, upon his discharge from the service.

Obitz Eliminated From Philadelphia PGA Tourney

Four Former Champions Also Bite Dust

Shawnee - on - Delaware - Harry Obitz, head pro at the host club, was eliminated from the Philadelphia District PGA Tournament in the second round here at Shawnee yesterday, as Carmen Steppo defeated the popular Obitz, four-and-three. Obitz won his first round match over Charles Schneider Jr., Lulu, four-and-two, during the morning action.

Jack Ryan, one of the assistant professionals at Shawnee, advanced to the third round by brushing aside Charles Schneider Sr., Lulu Country Club, four-and-three, in the morning and Cas Banas in the second round, one-up after 20 torrid holes.

Rod Munday, defending champion from the Country Club of York, won his first two matches, taking the measure of Bill Minor, Woodbury, in the morning and Al MacDonald, Langhorne, was eliminated by Munday in the afternoon. Munday won both matches by identical five-and-four scores.

Former champions eliminated from play yesterday were Henry Williams Jr., Berkleigh Clarence Ehresman, Ashbourne Sam Davis, Woodcrest, and "Bud" Lewis Manufacturers. Pat Tiso, record holding medalist on Monday, was also hustled out of the tournament during the first round action.

Upset

Matt Koval, Philmont, won over Williams, one-up, in the morning and then came back with a four-and-three nod over Ted Beadle. Williams held a one-up lead at the end of nine holes, but fell before Koval's finishing kick.

Terl Johnson, duPont, former Pennsylvania State Open champion, eliminated Ehresman, two-and-one, in the first round and made it a perfect day by downing Dave Hendry in the afternoon, one-up, after 21 holes.

Ken Gibson, Huntingdon Valley, sent Lewis to the showers in the first round, four-and-three, and Gibson also eliminated John Hayes in the afternoon, two-and-one. Tiso was driven off the course by Bob Schoener Sr., Green Pond, in the first round, and Schoener in turn fell before Walter Brickley in the afternoon, two-and-one.

Charley LePre, Doylestown, used a hole-in-one on the 16th as his major weapon in eliminating John Vettel, Hershey, in the morning round. Weitzel had LePre one-down going to the 16th, where the ultimate winner used a seven iron to drive within three feet of the cup, and the ball rolled in to even the match. A three-foot putt on the 19th hole enabled LePre to win.

LePre went on to win his afternoon match too, but it took him 20 holes to dispose of Lorman Kelly, one-up.

Willie Polunbo, Kennett Square, defeated Harold Duro, two-and-one, in the second round, and Paul Midro was too much for John Long, two-and-one. Bill Boyle, Iron Rock, supplied one of the big first round upsets by eliminating Sam Davis, one-up after 20 holes. Boyle came back in the afternoon to clip Ted Bickel Sr., three-and-two.

Second Round

Bob DeHaven defeated Wally Paul, one-up after 19 second round holes, while Angelo Paul took the measure of Henry Moyer, three-and-two, and Jack Sullivan defeated Joe Hunsberger, seven-and-six.

John Serafin, cool playing prod from Pittsford, defeated Horace Smith in the afternoon, one-up, as the latter gave up after three bad shots on the 19th. Smith missed a short putt on the 18th that would have given him the match.

United States Golf Association rules are governing play in the Shawnee tournament, with the exception that balls may be cleaned on greens and ball marks may be fixed at any time.

First prize in the tournament is worth $500, second, $300 and each semi-finalist also draws down an added $150. Third round winners, four in number, are rewarded with $60, while second round winners, numbering eight, are presented with $35, and first round victors, 16, earn $15.

Bill Crooks led the attack for the Eagles with a perfect four-for-four at the plate.

Giants Sweep Bargain Bill From Cubs Without Durocher

Chicago (AP) — The New York Giants swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs yesterday without the master minding of Manager Leo Durocher.

The Giants, hammered out 5-0 and 5-1 victories before 29,119 fans.

As Durocher started his five day suspension for his rhabid with umpire Augie Donatelli Sunday, the Giants were directed by the three coaches — Frank Shellenback, Freddie Fitzsimmons, and Herman Franks.

Sal "The Barber" Maglie, a 23-game winner a year ago, looked like his old self as he scattered eight hits to gain his thirteenth victory and fifth shutout in the opener.

New York broke on top with four runs in the first inning; two on Johnny Klippstein's two bases-loaded walks, a third on Vern Fehr's wild pitch, and a fourth marker as the result of catcher Toby Atwell's throwing error.

In the second game Bobby Thomson busted his number 18 homer in the seventh to wipe out the Chicagoans' 1-0 advantage. The Cubs got that run in the second when Bill Serera, who singled, scored on Eddie Miksis' fly.

The Giants also scored in the ninth inning, picking up an insurance run on "Dusty" Rhodes' leadoff double, and George Wilson's pinch single.

Bangor Announces Football Schedule Of Ten Contests

Bangor—Coach Granville Evans announced last night that his Bangor High football squad faces a schedule of 10 games in the 1952 campaign that gets under way on Friday, September 19, with the annual opening game with Stroudsburg, on the latter's home field.

The Gordon Giffels field attraction will be played under the lights and attract one of the largest crowds of the season to the Stroudsburg park.

Even Division
Bangor plays five games on its home field, at Bangor's Memorial Park, and the same number on the road.

The experienced Bangor contingent tangles with East Stroudsburg in the third game of the season for the Slaters, at Bangor, on Friday, October 3, also under the lights.

Bangor plays a total of four night games.
The season, as usual, winds up with Pon Argyl High on Thanksgiving Day, with the game listed for Bangor this year.

Sept. 19—Stroudsburg—Away (night)
Sept. 26—Catsburg—Home (night)
Oct. 3—East Stroudsburg—Home (night)
Oct. 11—Wilson Borough—Away
Oct. 18—Palmerton—Away
Oct. 24—Cuplar—Home (night)
Oct. 31—Nazareth—Away
Nov. 8—Northampton—Home
Nov. 15—Slatington—Home
Nov. 22—Pon Argyl—Home

Youngsters
Ronald Person, 14-year-old son of the sheriff at Columbia, Neb., broke 99-105 to take the sub-junior title for youngsters under 15.

A. M. Perkins, of Shreveport, La., broke 200 straight to win the professional championships.

Good Time May Increase Earnings
Yonkers, N. Y. (AP)—Good Time, Bill Cane's six-year-old pacing star, can come within $1,000 of Proximity's one-year earning record for a harness horse by winning the $25,000 Yonkers Derby tomorrow night at Yonkers Raceway.

Proximity won $87,150 in 1950, and the Yonkers Derby would give the Good Time $11,250 and total earnings of $86,342.50 for the year.

Two-Year-Olds Head For Real Track Struggle

New York (AP) — The two-year-olds, after sparring around for months, will get down to real business in the next few weeks of knocking each other out until they come up with a 1952 champion and the possible "winter book favorite" for the 1953 Kentucky Derby.

Some of the speediest juveniles in several seasons are still in the running, and it won't be until the $100,000 Belmont Futurity September 27—if then—before the number one youngster is crowned.

Easterners are inclined toward two unbeaten sons of Polynesian, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Native Dancer and Ben F. Whitaker's Tahitian King.

Scramble
In the middle-west there is a scramble between Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Mr. Paradise, Karl L. Martin and W. N. McKinney's Mr. Good, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Daniel's Ace Destroyer.

Outstanding in California is Little Request, owned by Joe Palmisano, Arizona lettuce king.

Next major juvenile stakes is the $50,000 Washington Park futurity at Chicago Saturday, where some more unscrubbing will take place. Mr. Paradise, runnerup to Ace Destroyer in last week's Prairie State Stakes and also second to Mr. Good in the Arlington Futurity, may be the choice. Ace Destroyer isn't eligible.

Native Dancer easily won the Saratoga Special last Saturday while Tahitian King is expected to start this Saturday in the Grand Union Hotel at Saratoga.

Little League Lists Pairings

Williamsport (AP)—Pairings were released yesterday for the annual Little League baseball world series here August 26-29.

Only two teams—Monongahela, Pa., and San Diego, Calif.—have won regional eliminations so far and are certain of making the trip here.

First Round
Monongahela, the Section Three Pennsylvania champion, will meet the Southeastern States survivor Section Five in the first round.

First round games will be played August 26 and 27 with the semifinals on August 28 and the championship game on August 29.

Bad News For Bach

Olean, N. Y. (AP) — More bad news was handed Coach Joe Bach of the National Football League's Pittsburgh Steelers yesterday when he learned that tackle Ernie Stautner will be lost for four or five weeks because of twisted knee.

International Flavor Present For Atlantic City Handicap

Atlantic City—A decided international flavor will be injected in the $25,000 added Atlantic City Turf Handicap, richest number of the local turf course stakes schedule which features the Labor Day holiday program here. The fourth running of the mile and three-sixteenths distance closed with ten foreign-bred handicappers among the 33 nominations. The majority of the invaders are at home over grass courses and include four Argentinians, three Irish, two English horses and one, campaigner from far off New Zealand.

The South American contingent is made up of Cherry-Oca Stable's Tio Ciro and Cuore, L. G. Robinson's Chat Noir 2nd and Starr Ranch's Montmartre 2nd. Tio Ciro and Cuore, the best of the "south of the border" hopes, were brought to this country by David Toochin, owner of the Cherry-Oca Stable. The grass stylists were "one-two" in the recent Meadowland Handicap at Washington Park with Tio Ciro leading his stablemate home by two lengths.

Highly Regarded
Tio Ciro never raced in his native country and won three of six starts as a three-year-old; annexed two winning purses last year; and gained his first major triumph in the Meadowland. Prior to the Illinois event, he finished second in the Massachusetts Handicap back of Tio Market.

The Irish breeders are represented by Harvey C. Fruchauf's two candidates, Crocodile and Chadwick Manor, and Craigwood Stable's Palatial Appetite. Crocodile shapes up as the chief reliance from the Emerald Isle. The 4-year-old son of Devonian was purchased by the Detroit trailer manufacturer for a reported $40,000 following a highly successful 3-year-old campaign in England where he won the Henry VII.

Defending Champs
Brooklyn is the defending champion, having won the title the last two years.

Players may not be over 19. The tournament is of the double knock-out type—that is, a team must lose two games to be eliminated.

First round pairings for tomorrow's games include: Wilkes-Barre vs. New York; Buffalo vs. Pittsfield; Holyoke vs. Painesville; Brooklyn vs. Altoona; Maryland State vs. Johnstown; Allentown vs. Pittsburgh.

Little League Action
National Bank and Security Trust clash in the Stroudsburg Little League today, at 6:15 p.m. The contest will be held on the circuit's official field.

Every Wednesday Night

Allentown—They're making automobile race drivers at Dorney Park track here.

Every Wednesday and Saturday nights in conjunction with the regular stock car race programs sanctioned by the Valley Auto Race Drivers Association, (VARDA), on the fifth of a mile asphalt track at Dorney Park a group of novice drivers compete in a special ten-lap event.

Old Favorites

These novice races are proving highly popular with the Dorney Park race people, for instead of knocking down the fences or climbing all over each other, the newcomers, who never before this season competed on any track, are showing signs of real driving and racing ability.

All of the old favorites compete too, in their own qualifying heat for the 25-lap feature races.

Boston (AP)—Boston edged the Cleveland Indians 6 to 5 yesterday in the last of the ninth after outfield errors by Larry Doby and Harry Simpson had enabled the Red Sox to tie the ball game 4-4 at 5-all in the seventh.

Catcher Sammy White poked an infield roller to short with the bases loaded and one out. Billy Goodman beat Ray Boone's throw home.

With two down in the seventh, Dom DiMaggio walked and Goodman beat out a bunt. Clyde Vollmer poked a single to center, scoring Dom and when the ball went through Doby, Goodman went to third and Vollmer to second. Manager Lou Boud-

Graham Meets Basilio

Chicago (AP)—Billy Graham, New York's contender for the world's welterweight championship, will risk his impending title match by meeting Carmen Basilo, Syracuse, N. Y., in a 10 round bout in the Chicago Stadium tonight. The action will be televised nationally starting at 10 p. m. EDT.

Exhibition Tilt Listed

Pittsburgh (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates and Washington Senators yesterday arranged an exhibition game for Forbes Field Monday night, September 8, for the benefit of the Community Chest. The Pirates will donate their share of proceeds to the fund.

Succeeds Successor

Pittsburgh (A) — Bill Douglass yesterday succeeded his successor, Mike Duff, as basketball coach at Brentwood High School. He was elected by the school board to the post he held three years before resigning in November to enter the insurance business. Duff also quit to go into insurance.

Spartanburg, S. C. (AP) — Maybe the Cleveland Indians made a good investment, after all.

In the spring of 1951 the American Leaguers signed Billy Joe Davidson, the husky, teenage-age southpaw with the fabulous North Carolina schoolboy pitching record. "Hank" Greenberg, Tribe general manager, was on hand for the signing—a matter of $100,000 plus.

Move
This season Cleveland moved him to its Spartanburg farm in the Class "B" Tri-State League. Billy Joe was slow to reach form. His mid-season record was a modest 7-7. But since then he has won eight in a row for 15-8. Better control was the answer. His latest job was a 6-1 six-hitter in which he struck out 11 Charlotte Hornets Monday night.

State Police Inspect 47 School Buses

Forty-seven buses which will transport Monroe County's school children to their respective buildings for another term beginning next month, were inspected by State police during the past two days and declared ready for operation.

Troopers of Stroudsburg's substation conducted their inspection of 47 buses at East Stroudsburg Junior High School Monday morning from 9 to noon. At Swiftwater Postoffice that afternoon 15 buses were inspected by troopers of Mount Pocono barracks. Yesterday the inspection by county State police was complete when Brodheads-ville State police examined 15 buses at Chestnut Hill Township Consolidated School, Brodheads-ville.

Rigid requirements set down by state legislation, backed by officials of the Department of Public Instruction, were incorporated by police in their examinations.

Bus operators, working on a contract basis with the individual school districts, were given notice early this month from the office of the county superintendent of schools, relayed by district secretaries.

Regulations stipulate that buses must be of uniform color, orange; each bus must be labeled both in front and rear with black letters not less than six inches in height with the words "School Bus;" each bus must be equipped with two electrical or mechanical stop signal devices, one in front and the other in the rear. The act also advises that other uniform regulations governing motor vehicles are applicable to school buses.

Picture Windows Kept Sparkling

Because of their smooth, unbroken expanse of glass, picture windows can be washed easily and quickly, in much less time than smaller panes. Most of their appeal is in the sparkling outdoor view they seem to bring into the house, and this advantage of easier upkeep is in their favor.

Some home owners who like the convenience of large windows but want the decorative touch of divisions have solved the problem with a hinged lattice that swings out from the window during washing but gives the appearance of many small panes when in place.

Canada attracts two out of every five Americans who travel outside the United States, says the Automobile Club of New York.

"Harbinger of spring" is the name of a plant (erigeron bulbosus).

Homes Can Be Quiet

Builders are seeking ways to soundproof home interiors. However, home owners can do much themselves to reduce noise by use of furniture, draperies and rugs. Generally speaking, the softer the furnishings, the quieter the room.

Pale Yellow Walls Brighten Room

A room that is inclined to be dark and rather gloomy can be given a sunshiny aspect by painting the walls a pale tint of yellow. A ceiling painted white will reflect the maximum light that falls upon it. In one such room, the wood-trim was coated in a grayed-lavender tone and draperies were a silvery gray. The upholstery combined blue-green and gray and tangerine-toned accessories added gaiety and life to the room's decoration.

The ancient Romans greatly advanced the art of glass-blowing. They blew it into molds, cutting, decorating and coloring it.

Grueling Stock-Car Competition Proves

HUDSON BEST BY FAR!

AS YOU know, it is impossible for a prospective buyer to accurately judge the relative merits of various cars through a casual examination or on the basis of claims.

Therefore, smart buyers are taking advantage of the record established in stock-car racing which affords an impartial test of the important features of competitive makes—features which largely determine owner satisfaction. In this rough, tough competition between cars just like you can buy from dealers, every make of car is compared for power, durability and safety—vital qualities in your daily driving.

With 30 victories in 34 starts already this year, Hudson proves it has these great qualities in measures no other car can match!

Hudson's rugged high-compression engines are famous for terrific power and performance. But more important, only Hudson has "step-down" design with America's lowest center of gravity. A Hudson hugs the road like it loves it and almost steers itself. Monobilt body-and-frame* is the most durable, safest known!

Visit us and try a Hudson, or if more convenient, phone and a Hudson will come to your door.

Barrett School Board Names Temporary Grades Teacher

Cresco—Miss Eleanor Mullen of Dickson City, Pa., was elected as temporary elementary teacher for the 1952-53 school term at Barrett Township schools last week when the school board convened.

The elected faculty member will receive $2,400 annually. Miss Mullen taught in Dickson schools for 15 years, five of which were spent as a regular substitute. She was released because of a declining enrollment. Mrs. Mildred Smith, who was present at the meeting, declined the position as temporary instructor.

A contract was awarded Black Magazine Agency to provide subscriptions for the library this year. It was announced that Raymond Jones again will operate the cafeteria and price of lunches was increased to 20 cents, due to a hike in operating expenses.

Directors also awarded bids for gasoline and oil for school buses to Raymond Price, Inc., and H. Talmage who submitted equal bids. Bills totaling $2,552.55 were approved.

Harry J. Drennan, president, directed the meeting. Others attending were Theodore R. Vernoy, Earl S. Rose, J. Reed Siglin, H. Irwin Shinnen, Lillian M. Price, secretary and Andrew W. Lewis, principal.

Strip Hardwood Is Economical

Of the four basic types of hardwood flooring, the strip type is used most extensively—and as a general rule is the lowest priced, according to a recent report by the U. S. Department of Commerce Construction Division. The material is available in several thicknesses and widths, and can be obtained in either square-edge or rounded-and-grooved style. Despite its extensive usage, the report added, strip flooring is not ordinary, since no two hardwood floors are exactly alike. Each has individuality in character and beauty of grain. The other types of hardwood flooring are plank, parquet and unit block.

When a cubic foot of natural gas burns completely, it produces a cubic foot of carbon dioxide and two cubic feet of water vapor.

Back Yard Grill Source Of Pleasure

If you enjoy a picnic or outdoor steak fry, why not erect a grill in the back yard or at some other comfortable and attractive spot. You can buy a skeleton metal framework at a very reasonable cost, and then by filling in around this framework with bricks or field stones, you have a first-class grill that is easily used.

Unseen Passenger Suspected As Flight Nurses Disappear

By Dick LaCoste

Central Press Correspondent

Washington — U.S. Air Force officials are convinced their "mercy" planes are carrying an unseen, armed, clothesless passenger who is preying on flight nurses. They have dubbed him "Dangerous Dan."

His victims are Air Force and Navy flight nurses who accompany our combat casualties and other military patients from the Far East to hospitals near their homes in the United States.

"Disappearance" of these nurses has Air Force officials frankly worried. One small squadron based at Hickam Air Force base, Hawaii, has lost more than 15 nurses since start of the Korean conflict June 25, 1950.

Some of the nurses met their fate while flying the Pacific air-lift, others while resting in Tokyo. And still others at Hickam.

Shuttling back and forth from Hickam to Tokyo, these flight nurses are moving targets, all right. But that doesn't worry Dan Cupid. His aim is unerring.

Lt. Jean Elaine Thompson, 40, of Kenosha, Wis., not worried—yet.

PP&L Proposes Billing Every Two Months

As a means of "effecting operating economies," the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. has petitioned the Public Utility Commission to allow the utility to issue bills on a two-month basis rather than monthly.

The utility's proposal came up for consideration by the commission and asks for an effective date of the new billing procedure of Sept. 1.

The economy of issuing only half as many bills yearly based on meter readings every second month was the only reason listed for the change according to a PUC spokesman.

No decision was announced by the commission.

Treasury Position

Washington (AP)—The position of the Treasury Aug. 15: Net budget receipts $162,598,160.04, budget expenditures $324,556,273.30, cash balance $7,396,239,514.64, total debt $262,897,049,545.01, decrease under previous day $129,495,036.47.

During World War II the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan was an essential link in the Allied supply line to the Middle East and a bulwark in the battle for North Africa.

Security Trust Outing Tonight

Edward Fox Heads March Of Dimes

New York — Appointment of Edward G. Fox, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co., as chairman of the Pennsylvania 1953 March of Dimes, was announced yesterday by Basil

Edward G. Fox

O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

As Pennsylvania chairman, Mr. Fox will coordinate the fund-raising activities of the March of Dimes volunteer campaign directors throughout the state.

In announcing the appointment, Mr. O'Connor explained that since 1938 the National Foundation, through March of Dimes grants, has financed vital research in the prevention of paralytic polio.

"At this critical point in science's fight against the crippling disease and with victory within sight, it is more necessary now than ever before to support the March of Dimes," Mr. O'Connor said. "The pressing need for ample funds may best be seen in the alarming polio figures for the first half of 1952. They indicate another year. If this proves true, then the National Foundation will end the year in debt as it has during the past four years."

Mr. Fox graduated from Pennsylvania State College in 1924 with a Bachelor of Science degree. Early in his career in the anthracite mining business, he also taught mine subjects in extension schools of the State Colleges at Mount Carmel, Shenandoah and Shamokin. He lives in Wynnewood, is married and has two children, Edward G., Jr., a student at Lafayette University, and Mrs. Richard B. Ryan, Orwigsburg.

Rev. Bachman Is Guest Preacher

Bushkill — Rev. Lester R. Bachman of the Gethsemane Orthodox Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, was the guest preacher at the Dutch Reformed Church here on Sunday. His sermon was "Measuring the Immeasurable." Rev. Bachman and his family are spending their vacation at the home of Rev. William Smith on Hugh Beaver Road.

Thief Gets $2300 But Drops $2500

Waterville, Minn. (AP) — A street-hatted young bandit who held up the Citizens State Bank here Monday afternoon and escaped with $2,300 in cash was in such a hurry he didn't stop to pick up another $2,500 he dropped on the sidewalk outside the bank.

A cashier from a neighboring bank found the $2,500 on the sidewalk a few minutes after the bandit departed. No trace has been found of the gunman.

15 School Buses Are Inspected

Brooksideville — Fifteen school buses operating in the West End of Monroe County were inspected yesterday by State police of the local barracks and Russell Young, garage inspector.

Reds Seek Technicians

Hong Kong (AP) — The Chinese Communists have begun beating through the ranks of government workers and their armies looking for anyone with technical skill. A Communist dispatch from Canton says those with special knowledge or aptitudes will be sent to technical schools and colleges. Technicians are badly needed for their planned industrial expansion.

Slate Belt Bess To Be Selected

Banger—Miss Slate Belt Bess will be selected here Saturday night as the concluding event of the seventh annual Blue Valley Farm Show.

With 25,000 spectators expected to view festivities of the four-day affair which opens tonight, each will share in the selection of "Bess" and ten persons will be awarded a gallon of ice cream each.

This marks the third year for the contest and 80 entrants are ready for the finals.

Miss Slate Belt Bess, incidentally, is a cow—one of the head of cattle to be exhibited by Future Farmers of America from the Banger and Pen Argyl High Schools chapters.

George D. Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Lafayette Price, Stroudsburg RD3, has been promoted from corporal to sergeant at his post in Germany.

Price is now stationed in Bamberg, Germany. He will appreciate mail from his friends at this address:

Sgt. George D. Price, R.A. 13312560, Co. "K" 26th Inf. Regt. 1st Div., APO No. 1, c/o P.M. New York, N.Y.

New Water Heater

An electric water heater that fits under the sink and holds five gallons of hot water will be ready for the market soon. It is equipped with a mixing valve that lets in enough cold water to bring the water to the desired temperature.

Sgt. George D. Price

NOTICE

Stroudsburg Borough Secretary's Office will be closed from August 18 to August 27, inclusive.

HAROLD E. SNYDER, Borough Secretary.

Mrs. Falcone Dies At Home In Bangor

Bangor -- Mrs. Rosario Falcone, 77, widow of Philip Falcone, died at her home, 703 Third Ave. at 11:35 p.m. Monday.

She was a native of Roseto Valforte, Italy but lived in this vicinity for the past 35 years. She was a member of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Roseto. Her husband died 26 years ago.

Surviving are the following children: Anthony, Flint, Mich., Mrs. James Heffernan, Pittston; Mrs. Creta Bozzuto, Lawrence, Daniel, Joseph and Frank Falcone, all of Bangor and the Misses Mary and Rose Falcone, both at home. Also 16 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 9:30 a.m. at the late home followed by solemn high mass of requiem at 10 a.m. in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church.

Girl Struck By Bicycle; Leg Broken

Connie Marsh, five, is confined to her Shook Ave. home with a fracture of the left leg suffered about 7 p.m. Monday, according to her mother, Mrs. James Marsh.

Mrs. Marsh said Connie was struck by a bicycle. The child is now wearing a temporary cast, the fracture having been promptly reduced.

A permanent cast will be applied so that Connie will be able to get about in time to start school this fall.

The surface of the lake in the crater bowl of Chubb Crater in Northern Quebec is 500 feet below the rim's top level. The maximum depth of the lake is 825 feet.

Roseto. Interment will be in the cemetery adjoining the church.
